Loans Money Eased

Federal Reserve Discount Rate Is Slashed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board, in a new move to reverse the recession, Tuesday authorized the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia to cut its discount rate from 3 per cent to 2 3/4 per cent.

The Philadelphia district cut will take effect Wednesday. The other 11 Federal Reserve Banks are expected to take similar actions during the next several days.

The discount rate is the interest the Federal Reserve Banks charge their member banks. When the rate is cut, the banks can borrow more easily and in turn they find it easier to lend money to firms and individuals.

Cutting the discount rate is therefore considered helpful in times of economic downturn. Easier credit, the reasoning goes, stimulates business.

"Proper"

A Treasury Department spokesman said Secretary Anderson considers the federal reserve change "a proper action." He quoted Anderson as saying it amounted to "continued evidence of the flexible use of federal reserve mechanisms in the national interest."

The Federal Reserve is independent of the Treasury.

The demand for credit has been slackening for months as the business drop has reached the proportions of a recession.

Federal Reserve Board officials here said directors of the Philadelphia Reserve Bank, in asking for a cut in the discount rate, were influenced not only by local business conditions but by their "judgment of the national situation."

Following the announcement here, New York's biggest bank, Chase Manhattan, announced it was cutting its prime interest rate from 4 1/2 to 4 per cent.

Best Ratings

The prime rate is the one charged the biggest borrowers with the best credit ratings. Other interest rates go up from there.

Comment from Wall Street on the Federal Reserve action included:

Bache & Co.: "The move is along the lines of the program indicated to aid business, through easing of the money situation, which should invariably affect the stock market."

Economist A. W. Zelomek: "It was expected. If it is reflected in a cut in interest rates by banks, then it is a really encouraging development for business."

Carpenter, Assessors Reconcile Differences

Terry 'Tried To Make Them Mad' To Spur 'Cleanup' Program

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

OMAHA—After several months of tossing barbed remarks back and forth, Nebraska's county assessors and Sen. Terry Carpenter met here Tuesday and apparently reconciled any differences they may have had.

Opening the meeting with a stem-winding, hour-long speech, Carpenter, chairman of the Legislative Council tax investigating committee, reviewed activities and findings of the committee since its operation began last October.

During the investigation, Carpenter had challenged the ability of county assessors generally in making assessments and had referred to them as "glorified mail clerks."

"To Make You Mad"

The Scottsbluff senator told the assessors Tuesday: "I may have made remarks that offended you. I know they offended you. I did it in order to offend you because I wanted to make you a little bit mad."

He then said: "Together we can clean up this program, but by being divided we'll never get anywhere."

In the three-hour meeting following his opening speech, the county assessors, representing nearly all of the 93 counties, indicated they were ready to go to work with Carpenter.

Self-Assessments

The senator said that under present Nebraska tax laws allowing self-assessments except on real estate, "the man who owns a home or farm and who is least able to pay the bill" carries the tax load.

"It is the intention of the chairman of this committee," he said, "to attempt to arouse people who own homes and farms."

"I want them to know, want them to understand, want them to be aroused, want them to be mad because, without that support, we can't do the job."

Carpenter said: "We collectively are taking on the most powerful people in this state and they are not going down to defeat easily."

Not Represented

Saying the average person in Nebraska "is not represented five minutes in any one day in the Legislature," Carpenter added: "From here on, for once in their lives, they're going to be represented to the nth degree I can give it to them."

Carpenter singled out Sen. Otto Liebers of Lincoln as one senator who is opposed to what the committee is doing. He said "the man (Liebers) who opposed the forming of this committee is the same (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1.)"

Raecke: 'Talk Of Candidacy Speculation'

Central City attorney, Walter Raecke, Tuesday said that he was not seriously considering becoming Democratic candidate for governor with the comment that "all this is still in the realm of speculation."

Raecke, 62, defeated by Robert Crosby for the gubernatorial post in 1952, reported he had not given any serious thought to the race, and expressed surprise that State Democratic Chairman Willard Townsend of Lincoln had stated that he (Raecke) was giving consideration to either the senatorial or gubernatorial race this year.

The Central City Democrat has refused his party's requests to run for office in recent elections on the basis of his involvement in business affairs.

Edward A. Dosek, 58-year-old Lincoln insurance man, commented on Raecke's possible candidacy for the governor's race—a position for which Dosek is reportedly planning to run—that "the Democratic party welcomes as many good candidates as wish to run for any office. I regard Raecke as a good, substantial candidate."

Dosek said that any decision by Raecke would not change his own political plans.

'Holocaust' Just Steam, Lights

Low temperatures, moisture laden air and colored lights Tuesday night combined to give the appearance that several major fires were raging in Lincoln.

Not even a small fire was reported Tuesday evening but the effect of reddish light reflected off vapor from smoke stacks and chimneys created an illusion that smoke was billowing into the sky.

Otoe County School Plan Fails Again

Lincoln Star Special

SYRACUSE, Neb.—The Central Otoe County School District reorganization plan was defeated for a second time Tuesday, with the rural districts again accounting for the loss.

The voting was done in three units: Burr, Otoe and Unadilla; Syracuse; and 34 rural districts.

Passing the measure by a total of 160 to 54 were Burr, 42 to 9; Otoe, 51 to 27, and Unadilla, 67 to 18, all for the plan.

Syracuse residents approved the plan 368 to 67.

The rural districts defeated the reorganization by 336 against to 247 for. All three voting units had to approve the plan in order for it to pass.

The proposed plan called for elementary centers at Syracuse, Burr, Unadilla and Otoe and a centrally located high school.

The first plan, presented to the voters Nov. 12, was defeated by 43 votes in the rural districts.

Syracuse School Superintendent, Don Craig said that the weather was a definite factor in the voting and possibly in defeating the plan. He noted that many country roads were blocked by snow and 14 students had not been able to attend school in Syracuse Tuesday because of the roads.

Hearing Speeded On Cushman Site Zoning

By VIRGIL FALLOON

Star Staff Writer
The City Planning Commission late Tuesday moved up to Jan. 29 its hearing on the Cushman Motor Works application for heavy industry zoning of the 109-acre tract at the southeast edge of Lincoln.

Earlier in the day, the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, following a special meeting of its directors, announced its support of the Cushman application and urged that an "early meeting" be held.

The Cushman application was scheduled for Feb. 13 hearing, but the earlier Jan. 29 meeting was called by Commission Vice Chairman John Sellick. Chairman E. J. Faulkner is absent from the city.

Copies To All

Chamber President Harold Hoppe said copies of the resolution urging the Cushman application "be granted" had gone to all members of the City Planning Commission and the City Council.

The Chamber board of directors in its resolution approved recommendations of its Business Expansion Committee headed by Emmett Junge, according to Hoppe.

Hoppe said "Chairman Junge and his group feel that the industrial facilities which the Cushman firm proposes to build will be highly beneficial to Lincoln, especially when it has just become necessary for the Elgin Watch Company to close out its Lincoln operations."

The Chamber committee's resolution pointed out that the Cushman firm employs more than 700 persons, with a yearly payroll of some $3,400,000.

Would Enable Expansion

Permitting industrial use of the proposed site, now used for agriculture, would enable the manufacturing expansion of the company, the committee said.

"It is expected that products of the parent company (Outboard Marine) would be manufactured here in addition to the gas and electric vehicles and other products of Cushman," the committee added.

Chamber officials anticipate that the Lincoln Industrial Development Corporation will also take a firm stand on the matter.

Ike Leaves Politics For Defense Issue

President Calls Security Council Meet Before Dulles Departs

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower returned to Washington Tuesday after an overnight journey to political fields and promptly got down to discussions of defense matters.

Mr. Eisenhower met with Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and news secretary James C. Hagerty said it would be a "good guess" that they talked about reorganization, "among other things."

The chief executive also scheduled meetings Wednesday with the National Security Council, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis E. Strauss and Defense Mobilization Director Gordon Gray.

Hagerty said that Dulles will issue a statement at the White House after seeing the President and just before taking off for the Baghdad Pact meeting in Ankara, Turkey.

McElroy was an "on-again-off-again" visitor to the White House. His conference at one time was put over to Wednesday because he also would be at the Security Council meeting. It was changed again, however, and he met with Mr. Eisenhower.

Into Doubt

Hagerty explained that the President's schedule had been thrown into doubt by early reports of poor flying weather in Chicago where he spoke Monday night.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower took off for their return flight on a runway covered with several inches of snow. It was raining lightly in Washington when they arrived.

Hagerty was asked whether the President, who insisted in his Chicago speech that national security should be kept out of politics, had known about the speech that White House assistant Sherman Adams made in Minneapolis at the same time. Adams accused Democrats of "politicizing" with the nation's security.

He replied that he did not know of Mr. Eisenhower's having seen the Adams speech although "the President was aware that Governor Adams was making a speech."

Hagerty declined comment on the Adams remarks, saying: "The Adams speech speaks for itself."

The Security Council meeting, usually held on Thursday, was moved up a day to permit attendance by Dulles before he leaves on his mission.

15-INCH FALL BURIES K. C.

Blizzard Moves Northeast, Slackens; 16 Known Dead

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A blizzard virtually paralyzed Kansas City with 15 inches of snow Tuesday, then swept into the upper Midwest. The storm diminished Tuesday night.

At least 16 deaths were attributed to the storm—two in Kansas, five in Missouri, six in Illinois and three in Iowa.

In a special bulletin late Tuesday night, the Weather Bureau said snow still was falling over Illinois and parts of six other states but added: "The force of the storm was just about spent in the Midwest."

Earlier, as the blizzard moved northeastward from Missouri into Iowa, Illinois and lower Michigan, the Weather Bureau forecast improved conditions west of the Mississippi River.

Just after sunset, the snow stopped falling in Kansas City, ending the city's worst storm in 28 years. The Weather Bureau said the average cover in Kansas City and its suburbs was 15 inches. Winds of 15 miles an hour whipped the snow into deep drifts.

Clogged

Highways into the city were clogged, but trains kept into and out of the city throughout the storm. Air traffic, suspended most of the day, was resumed early Tuesday night.

At least six persons in the Kansas City area died as a result of the storm. A railroad employee, William Allen, was killed when hit by a train at Kingsville, Mo., while trying to clear snow away from switches.

Chicago was a sea of slush by midday, with one to five inches of wet snow covering various parts of the city. Buses ran 15 to 30 minutes late on some lines. Streets were slippery.

Record Is 25 Inches

The storm already exceeded a blow that dumped 12.8 inches of snow on Kansas City Jan. 9, 1930, and was being compared to the city's record, a 25-inch deluge on March 23-24, 1912.

Drifts more than six feet high were widely reported in Missouri and Kansas. These, together with abandoned passenger cars, blocked many roads, including vital north-south and east-west transcontinental highways. Other

Rain soaked the Ohio Valley and Atlantic seaboard.

Squalls and thunderstorms lashed Florida and a tornado was reported near Cedar Keys on the north-west Florida coast. Waves 50 feet high built up by 50-m.p.h. winds pounded the Cedar Keys and area.

The outskirts of Tampa, Fla., were doused with 2 1/2 inches of rain.

Extreme southeastern Nebraska was virtually snowbound Tuesday night as a storm which also paralyzed Kansas City swept over the tip of Nebraska.

The forecast for Wednesday indicated warmer temperatures for the southeastern part of the state where highs were to be 25 to 35 and readings reaching 35 to 45 in the northwest.

The storm abated late Tuesday, but the Richardson County sheriff's office reported only one-way travel on Highways 73 and 36 and said roads were extremely hazardous. The county had an estimated eight to 10 inches of snow by Tuesday afternoon.

All schools, both town and rural, were closed Tuesday in Richardson County and the Port of Entry at Falls City reported no traffic of any kind moving on U.S. 73 during the morning.

18 Schools Closed

Farther west in Gage County 18 schools closed including rural and high schools at Diller, Odell, Wyomere and Holmesville, and many township roads were drifted shut. Adams and Beatrice schools were open.

About two inches of new snow early Tuesday brought the total at Beatrice to six inches. Gusts as high as 40 m.p.h. were reported Tuesday.

The State Safety Patrol reported late Tuesday that all roads were passable, but considerable packed snow and ice in the Beatrice and Falls City areas made travel extremely hazardous. Good road conditions were reported west of Grand Island.

In Jefferson and Saline Counties snow totaled six to seven inches Tuesday, but all highways were reported open, with some county roads remaining blocked. All schools were open in Saline County with Jefferson having a few rural schools closed.

City and rural schools were closed in the Auburn and Pawnee City areas Tuesday and some county roads were still closed Tuesday night, although main highways were passable.

High readings in the state Tuesday ranged from 46 at Scottsbluff and Chadron to 21 at Omaha, with Lincoln reporting 22.

GOP To Pick Committeeman On Jan. 29

... In Grand Island

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (P)—The Republican State Central Committee will meet in Grand Island Jan. 29 to nominate a successor to the late T. H. Maenner of Omaha as national committeeman.

GOP State Chairman Richard E. Spelts, who called the meeting, said the general counsel for the Republican National Committee, Hugh Scott, had written him that national committee vacancies are filled by that organization from nominations by the state committee.

Tuesday Spelts wired the 86 members of the state committee notifying them of the 2:30 p.m. meeting on the 29th at Grand Island's Hotel Yancey.

"The urgency of this meeting is brought about by the called meeting of the Republican National Committee in Washington Jan. 31," Spelts said, "and if a nomination is not presented at this national meeting it is possible that Nebraska could be without the services of a national committeeman for many months."

Defense Change Advisers Named

...McElroy Says Operation Will Take Several Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense McElroy said Tuesday three officers who have headed the Joint Chiefs of Staff and three civilians will join him in a "top priority" search for ways to reorganize the Defense Department.

McElroy said the whole operation will take several weeks. He said there is a target date for completing the study, but declined to disclose it now.

President Eisenhower, in public statements, has given conflicting impressions that (A) he will quickly send Congress a Pentagon reorganization plan and that (B) considerable time will elapse before a program can be hammered out.

Congressional demands for reorganizing the chain of military command have become increasingly insistent. The Senate preparedness subcommittee has heard a string of witnesses testify that disunity and poor organization have hampered U.S. progress in the dawn of the missile age.

Different Formulas

Tuesday the Senate subcommittee heard two retired military leaders give conflicting formulas for solving the problem.

Gen. Carl Spaatz, who headed the Air Force a decade ago, urged "a single chief of staff for the secretary of defense instead of the committee system we have now."

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, World War II hero and postwar chief of naval operations, testified the single chief system would be "totally wrong."

Nimitz urged a simplification of the present Joint Chiefs of Staff system to eliminate the fourth member who acts as chairman. The retired admiral said the chairmanship could rotate among the three members who are the operating heads of the Army, Air Force and Navy.

Both Spaatz and Nimitz agreed that Congress should abolish many of the civilian assistant secretaries of Defense, Army, Navy and Air Force. Most of these jobs were created at the urging of former secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

Previous Studies

The three civilians appointed by McElroy to help him work out a reorganization program headed previous studies along that line. They are William C. Foster, former deputy secretary of defense; Charles A. Coolidge, former assistant secretary, and Nelson A. Rockefeller, chairman of the President's Advisory Committee on Government Organization.

Foster was a member and for a time headed the committee which filed last fall the top secret Gaither Report on National Defense. This document has never been made public but its recommendations reportedly included a proposal for a single chief of staff.

Coolidge made a study of the military organization several years ago. Rockefeller headed a non-government committee which recently urged drastic changes in the top military command.

McElroy last Wednesday named the three military consultants. They are Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the two retired officers who previously held that job—Gen. Omar Bradley and Adm. Arthur F. Radford.

All the consultants except Coolidge will work on a parttime basis. Coolidge will be a fulltime special assistant to McElroy.

The aerial phase of the wide search was discontinued but four Navy destroyers and two Coast Guard cutters kept combing a 60 by 80 mile ocean area to locate bodies or additional debris.

Cause of the crash remained a baffling mystery. Officials refused even to speculate on possible solutions of the mystery. The weather was excellent and the seas were calm when the four-engine plane vanished early Sunday after sending a routine radio report of its position.

Married Lincoln Girl

Flaherty, a graduate of the University of Nebraska, is married to the former LaVerne Bean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bean of 1447 Dakota, Mrs. Flaherty and their two children, Kevin, 18 mo., and Jan, four mo., live at Fairfield, Calif., near Travis AFB where Lt. Flaherty is stationed.

The missing navigator and his family visited in Lincoln last month, spending the holidays with their relatives. They were en route to Travis, Lt. Flaherty's new post, from Ellington AFB, Tex., where he had received his training.

Lt. Flaherty graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1955; and received a master's degree in agricultural economics in 1956. He is the son of the late Leo Flaherty of St. Edward, La. Flaherty was born in St. Edward, and attended schools there, moving to Lincoln in 1950 after the death of his father.

Other relatives include his sisters, Mrs. Kathleen Brown of Carson City, Nev.; Mrs. Joanne Potter of Gainesville, Fla.; Mary Lou Flaherty of San Diego, and Karen Flaherty, a postulate at Marillac Seminary, St. Louis, Mo.

Lost Weather Plane Copilot Formerly Here

A former Lincoln Air Force Base officer, Capt. Clyde W. Teffertiller, 35, was identified as the copilot on a WB-50 weather spotting plane missing over the Pacific near Guam since last week.

Capt. Teffertiller left the Lincoln base in September after a three-year tour of duty, and was sent to Guam.

The 10-man crew is still the object of an air and sea search in the Guam area because of persistent SOS signals, presumably from survivors of the downed plane which was on a mission tracking the typhoon Ophelia.

Capt. Teffertiller, his wife and family, lived at Raymond during his Lincoln AFB duty period. His stepson, Ben Elliott, 21, lives with the J. Rex Wilson family of Raymond.

Roberta Peters Solo Program Captivates Audience Here

Roberta Peters, charming young soprano from the Metropolitan, completely captivated her audience Tuesday night at the Stuart Theater. Displaying a coloratura voice of great clarity and brilliance, Miss Peters sang a demanding solo program for the patrons of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra Association.

Miss Peters' expressiveness both in face and voice conveyed the feeling and character of each selection. Her voice is extremely agile with pure, bell-like tones in the high register. It is no wonder that she has become a favorite at the Metropolitan since she made her debut there in 1950 at the age of twenty.

Two operatic selections—the aria "Una Voce Poco Fa" from "The Barber of Seville" (Rossini) and an encore "Laughing Song" from "Fledermaus" — gave the audience an idea of her spirited, operatic style.

Beautiful Duet

The program opened with two selections from the baroque period—"I Follow With Gladness," from St. John Passion (Bach) and "Sweet Bird" (Handel). The latter was outstanding because of the beautiful duet between the voice and flute in imitation of the trill of the birds.

This was followed by the warm lyricism of the songs written by the romantic Robert Schumann and two of the most popular songs of Richard Strauss.

The section closed with the Bravura Variations on a theme by Mozart (the theme being "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star"). The work was cleverly arranged by Adams as a perfect example for displaying Miss Peters' brilliant, flexible coloratura. Flutist Janus Gemus played a fine obbligato.

Well Received

Songs by Debussy and Ravel preceded a group of modern songs, of which "Moon-Marketing" (Powell Weaver) and "Music I Heard with You" (Richard Hageman) were especially well received by the audience.

Miss Peters received a well-deserved ovation at the conclusion of the concert. Her encores included "The Last Rose of Summer" (Flotow), "The Nightingale", and the Swedish folk song "When I Was Seventeen". She was capably assisted throughout the concert by accompanist George Trovillo.

Miss Peters was beautifully gowned in red velvet, accented by sparkling tiara, necklace and earrings. Her grace, charm and beauty added to her fine musicianship.

Washington (AP) — Senate rackety investigators unfolded evidence Tuesday that some "dummy" real estate deals rang up $59,955.76 of hidden profits for certain officers of the San Francisco local of the Operating Engineers Union.

The same evidence showed the deals were costly to the local.

This was the opening maneuver in an inquiry into a 270,000-member international union which Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said shows a history of violence, "gangland killings," and "dictatorial control and subjugation of the membership."

Most members of the union work for contractors, operating heavy equipment.

Pierre Salinger, investigator for the Senate committee exploring labor-management misdeeds, testified about the real estate transactions.

'Hidden Profits'

He said they turned up the "hidden profits" for Ed Doran, a business agent for San Francisco local 3 at Stockton, Calif., and Victor S. Swanson, who has since been deposed as a business agent for the local and as a vice president of the international union. Doran was suspended as a business agent last August.

Salinger said that in the name of the local, a tract for an office building was bought in Stockton, Calif., in 1955, for $33,500.

Subsequently, he said, the land was sold off in three parcels, through "dummies." Then, he said, one parcel was bought back for $1,650 more than the entire tract cost in the first place.

The committee investigator also said a $20,000 yacht was bought for the local 3 in 1947, but half the price was covered up on the books as an expenditure for building repairs.

Patrick W. Clancy, a red-faced, red-haired Irishman who has been president of the local since 1941, said he didn't know anything about any hidden profits in the real estate deals and "no, sir," he didn't get out in on them.

Playwright Sues

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Playwright Jack Linder filed a $350,000 damage suit against two movie companies charging they stole his version of a stage play based on the D. H. Lawrence novel, "Lady Chatterley's Lover."

Linder named as defendants Columbia Pictures and Kingsley International Pictures Corp.

Lincolnite One Of Lost AF Plane's Crew

Lt. Jerry Flaherty, 23, son of Mrs. Leo F. Flaherty of 4037 D, was the navigator on the Military Air Transport Service cargo plane missing over the Pacific Ocean since Sunday.

Mrs. Flaherty received word that her son was among the seven missing crewmen whose plane vanished about 300 miles southwest of the Philippine Islands on a flight from Travis Air Force Base, Calif. to Kwajalein.

Hope has been virtually abandoned for the crew after debris found in the mid-Pacific was definitely identified as having come from the C-97 Cargolineer.

The flotsam was spotted by the pilot of a search plane from the carrier Philippine Sea about 270 miles southwest of Hawaii.

Lt. Flaherty graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1955; and received a master's degree in agricultural economics in 1956. He is the son of the late Leo Flaherty of St. Edward, La. #### Lost Weather Plane Copilot Formerly Here

A former Lincoln Air Force Base officer, Capt. Clyde W. Teffertiller, 35, was identified as the copilot on a WB-50 weather spotting plane missing over the Pacific near Guam since last week.

Capt. Teffertiller left the Lincoln base in September after a three-year tour of duty, and was sent to Guam.

The 10-man crew is still the object of an air and sea search in the Guam area because of persistent SOS signals, presumably from survivors of the downed plane which was on a mission tracking the typhoon Ophelia.

Capt. Teffertiller, his wife and family, lived at Raymond during his Lincoln AFB duty period. His stepson, Ben Elliott, 21, lives with the J. Rex Wilson family of Raymond.

Roberta Peters Solo Program Captivates Audience Here

Roberta Peters, charming young soprano from the Metropolitan, completely captivated her audience Tuesday night at the Stuart Theater. Displaying a coloratura voice of great clarity and brilliance, Miss Peters sang a demanding solo program for the patrons of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra Association.

Miss Peters' expressiveness both in face and voice conveyed the feeling and character of each selection. Her voice is extremely agile with pure, bell-like tones in the high register. It is no wonder that she has become a favorite at the Metropolitan since she made her debut there in 1950 at the age of twenty.

Two operatic selections—the aria "Una Voce Poco Fa" from "The Barber of Seville" (Rossini) and an encore "Laughing Song" from "Fledermaus" — gave the audience an idea of her spirited, operatic style.

Beautiful Duet

The program opened with two selections from the baroque period—"I Follow With Gladness," from St. John Passion (Bach) and "Sweet Bird" (Handel). The latter was outstanding because of the beautiful duet between the voice and flute in imitation of the trill of the birds.

This was followed by the warm lyricism of the songs written by the romantic Robert Schumann and two of the most popular songs of Richard Strauss.

The section closed with the Bravura Variations on a theme by Mozart (the theme being "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star"). The work was cleverly arranged by Adams as a perfect example for displaying Miss Peters' brilliant, flexible coloratura. Flutist Janus Gemus played a fine obbligato.

Well Received

Songs by Debussy and Ravel preceded a group of modern songs, of which "Moon-Marketing" (Powell Weaver) and "Music I Heard with You" (Richard Hageman) were especially well received by the audience.

Miss Peters received a well-deserved ovation at the conclusion of the concert. Her encores included "The Last Rose of Summer" (Flotow), "The Nightingale", and the Swedish folk song "When I Was Seventeen". She was capably assisted throughout the concert by accompanist George Trovillo.

Miss Peters was beautifully gowned in red velvet, accented by sparkling tiara, necklace and earrings. Her grace, charm and beauty added to her fine musicianship.

County Board To Set Officials' Pay Tuesday

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Lancaster County Board will set the salaries of nine county officials at next Tuesday's board meeting.

A public hearing was held Tuesday concerning the adjusting of the salaries of the nine officials, and the commissioners and most of those appearing before the board agreed that increases are in order.

Strongest sentiment was expressed for increases in the salaries of the county engineer and county attorney, both of whom are now receiving $6,500 annually. Commissioner Rollin Bailey, an attorney, proposed they both be boosted to $9,600 yearly.

Suggests $9,500

Board Chairman Russell Brehm suggested a $9,500 yearly salary for both posts and Commissioner Del Leneman proposed $9,000 annually. Present county engineer is Louis Weaver and the county attorney's post is held by Elmer Scheele.

The board apparently has abandoned any plans to seek to have either the engineer or attorney devote full-time to his job and they will both apparently be allowed to continue outside practice to supplement their incomes.

Ten persons spoke in favor of raising the salaries—eight of them advocating raises for either Scheele or Weaver or both—and two persons spoke against any salary increases. The County Board is required by state law to set the salaries of the nine officials involved every four years.

The following table shows the present salaries of the officials involved and the recommendations made by the commissioners:

	Present	Brehm	Leneman	Line
Clerk	$6,000	$7,500	$6,500	$7,500
Assessor	6,000	7,500	6,500	7,500
Dist. Cl. Clerk	6,000	7,500	6,500	7,500
Sheriff	6,000	7,500	6,500	7,500
Treasurer	6,500	8,500	7,500	8,500
Superintendent	6,500	8,500	7,500	8,500
Reg. of Deeds	6,500	8,500	7,500	8,500
Attorney	6,500	9,500	9,000	9,500
Engineer	6,500	9,500	9,000	9,600

(The clerk now receives an additional $500 annually for setting the budget. Brehm's and Bailey's figures include this $500, Lineman's do not.)

$10,000 To Replace

Roy Green of Lincoln, former dean of the University of Nebraska College of Architecture and Engineering, said that if Weaver were to leave his post as county engineer, the county would be "terribly fortunate" to find a man as competent to fill the position for $10,000 a year. He said engineers just out of college are receiving nearly as much as Weaver at their starting salaries.

In the event that Weaver chose not to run again, Green said, the county would lose a good deal more money in errors in judgment by a less experienced engineer, than the $3,500 needed to raise his salary to $10,000.

Guy C. Chambers, Lincoln attorney, said the present salary of County Attorney Scheele is "way below" what a qualified man deserves. He urged that no attempt be made to make the post a full-time job, saying that if a full-time attorney lost his bid for reelection he would find himself without any clients after a layoff from private practice.

Spidel Opposed

George Spidel of Lincoln, master of the Nebraska State Grange, appeared in opposition to any increases. He stated that the average farmer went in debt the last three years due to the drought and it will take more than one year for him to recover. He also cited increased rail shipping costs and the prospect of lower price supports as reasons why no salary increases are warranted.

Mark Lindell of Lincoln, describing himself as just a small taxpayer, also appeared in opposition.

Red China Claims Oldest Human; A Peasant Of 138

TOKYO (Wednesday) — (INS)

—Communist China claimed it has one of the world's oldest—perhaps the oldest—living humans.

Radio Peiping identified the person as Liu Chen, a peasant who has passed his 138th birthday, according to the broadcast heard in Tokyo.

The Red radio said Liu is "still active" and doing "light work in the co-operative of which he is a member."

Probe Told Of 'Profits' In Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackety investigators unfolded evidence Tuesday that some "dummy" real estate deals rang up $59,955.76 of hidden profits for certain officers of the San Francisco local of the Operating Engineers Union.

The same evidence showed the deals were costly to the local.

This was the opening maneuver in an inquiry into a 270,000-member international union which Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said shows a history of violence, "gangland killings," and "dictatorial control and subjugation of the membership."

Most members of the union work for contractors, operating heavy equipment.

Pierre Salinger, investigator for the Senate committee exploring labor-management misdeeds, testified about the real estate transactions.

'Hidden Profits'

He said they turned up the "hidden profits" for Ed Doran, a business agent for San Francisco local 3 at Stockton, Calif., and Victor S. Swanson, who has since been deposed as a business agent for the local and as a vice president of the international union. Doran was suspended as a business agent last August.

Salinger said that in the name of the local, a tract for an office building was bought in Stockton, Calif., in 1955, for $33,500.

Subsequently, he said, the land was sold off in three parcels, through "dummies." Then, he said, one parcel was bought back for $1,650 more than the entire tract cost in the first place.

The committee investigator also said a $20,000 yacht was bought for the local 3 in 1947, but half the price was covered up on the books as an expenditure for building repairs.

Patrick W. Clancy, a red-faced, red-haired Irishman who has been president of the local since 1941, said he didn't know anything about any hidden profits in the real estate deals and "no, sir," he didn't get out in on them.

Playwright Sues

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Playwright Jack Linder filed a $350,000 damage suit against two movie companies charging they stole his version of a stage play based on the D. H. Lawrence novel, "Lady Chatterley's Lover."

Linder named as defendants Columbia Pictures and Kingsley International Pictures Corp.

Missile Fund Gets Increase

...FROM HOUSE UNIT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first "installment" payment on the new U. S. missile program, a $1,410,000,000 fund for space age weapons and defenses, was approved by the House Appropriations Committee Tuesday.

Action came within two weeks after President Eisenhower asked Congress for more money for missile development and related projects in the fiscal year ending next June 30.

The 50-man appropriations group okayed the full $1,260,000,000 in new cash the President asked for. It also approved Eisenhower's request for authority to transfer 110 million in funds now available—and add 40 million to this amount.

All for Army

All of the 40 million would be for the Army, half of it to develop a solid-fuel successor to the Army's 200-mile Redstone missile. The House will consider the committee's action Wednesday. There are indications that even more money may be put into the bill before it is speeded to the Senate.

This supplemental appropriation is distinct from the 40-billion-dollar defense budget proposed for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Rep. Simpson Lincoln Day Speaker Here

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee, will be the featured speaker at a Lincoln Day dinner here Feb. 11.

Marvin Stromer, GOP executive secretary, said Rep. Simpson, who is the ranking member of the House Ways and Means Committee, will speak at the 55-plate dinner at the Cornhusker Hotel at 7 p.m.

As chairman of the GOP Congressional committee, Rep. Simpson helps individual Republicans with their campaigns for the House.

Rep. Simpson has served in the House since 1937. The Ways and Means Committee in which he serves concerns itself with such problems as taxes and Social Security. Rep. Simpson is also secretary of the House GOP policy committee.

The dinner is one of 12 being held throughout the state in February, officially launching party activities in Nebraska for the 1958 elections.

Venezuela Has General Strike, Riot

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Rioting and shooting broke out in Venezuela Tuesday, three weeks to the day after an abortive military revolt against the government of President Marcos Perez Jimenez.

The violence came with the start of a general strike.

Gunfire was heard in several areas of Caracas and there were reports many persons were injured.

(Advices reaching Washington through Venezuela's strict censorship said 20 persons were killed and 100 injured in street fighting in Caracas. They said the clash occurred in a workers' area in an old section of the capital and that 1,000 persons were arrested.)

Curfew

The government struck back at its opposition with a 6 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew and gave orders to its troops to fire on anyone disturbing the peace.

The Interior Ministry said in a nationwide broadcast the people had not responded to the call for a general strike, but conceded there had been "disorders and offenses" in Caracas and disturbances in Los Teques, Valencia and Pueblo Nuevo in the state of Falcon.

"In the rest of the country," the ministry said, "the situation is completely normal."

Allison-Dulles Rift Hinted Behind Ambassador's Request For New Post

THE LINCOLN STAR 3
Wednesday, January 22, 1958

...To Take Leisurely Boat Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speculation mounted Tuesday that U.S. Ambassador John M. Allison asked to be relieved of his post in Indonesia because of a basic policy rift with Secretary of State Dulles.

The State Department acknowledged Monday Allison is leaving Jakarta in eight days for consultations at home and reassignment. It developed Tuesday that Allison is not due back here until early March after a leisurely boat trip. This lent strength to persistent reports that Allison's shift had more than usual diplomatic overtones.

The move was originally announced as part of "an interrelated series of diplomatic transactions."

Neutrality

Informed sources said Allison has strongly urged reconsideration of strict U.S. neutrality in the dispute between Indonesia and the Netherlands over West New Guinea.

Allison is said to feel the United States should take a positive stand in favor of Indonesia's claim to the Dutch-owned portion of the big jungle island.

Authoritative sources say Secretary Dulles has no intention of shifting from his present neutral position to one side or the other. U.S. neutrality is predicated on Indonesia remaining free in the face of rising Communist political influence.

Allison is said to have reported the present U.S. position merely angers the Dutch, disgruntles the Indonesian and plays into the hands of Communist propagandists.

Model-Making Demonstrated

R. W. Nebergall of Des Moines, Ia., makes a "moulage" model of the finger of Lincoln Police Patrolman Lyle Bigley during a session at the Police Department's annual training school.

Nebergall, former chief of the Iowa Highway Patrol's criminal division, made the model by first placing the rubbery moulage around the finger. Next, after it dries, it is removed and a waxy substance called "posmoulage" is poured in the hollow moulage. The posmoulage is then removed and offers an exact replica of the finger. The process is used primarily to preserve evidence such as making moulages of perishable goods. The two-week police school ends Friday. (Star Photo)

Packard succeeds Louis H. Babst as trustee for Cedars Home for Children.

Other officers named included Richard L. White, Vice president; Ray J. Becker, re-elected Treasurer and Ced Yoder, Secretary.

Mrs. Bennett Martin and Milton Beechner were elected to serve one and three year terms on the Board of Trustees. Ben F. Hemphill, Babst and Asa B. Waters were elected to membership on the Executive Committee.

The board re-named Mrs. Al-berta Kuklish as Superintendent of the home. Mrs. Kuklish reported that for the twelve months ending December 31, 1957, there were an average of 39 children in the home each day. For the 10 years of Cedars operation the home has cared for more than 1,100 homeless children.

Cedars does not serve as an orphanage but as a temporary home for children who need help until a permanent home can be found for them. The average cost per child day has gone up from $2.23 in 1956 to $2.37 in 1957, Mrs. Kuklish said.

Babst reported net proceeds from the Cedars Christmas Letter were $9,060 representing 6,774 individual gifts. Receipts from the Christmas letter are used for the

County Board To Aid City Street Plans

The Lancaster County Board Tuesday unanimously approved a resolution to co-operate with the City of Lincoln in planning for future county participation in the financing of the city's 10-year street improvement program.

The resolution, which does not commit any specific amount of county funds, was passed with the hope that the next session of the State Legislature will make such co-operation possible by amending Sec. 23-339 of the Nebraska Statutes.

This section now prohibits such joint city-county ventures in cities of more than 100,000 population. The section provides for county participation up to 50 per cent of the cost of grading and the total cost of paving intersections for street improvements within the city limits, according to Commissioner Del Lienemann who introduced the resolution.

Historical Landmarks

It is good to see a start being made on a program for marking of Nebraska's points of historic interest and significance. This program will get under way as the Historical Landmarks Committee puts into action provisions of an act passed by the 1957 Legislature.

A great deal of the success of the program will depend upon public reaction and its acceptance by county officials. The state provided no funds for the venture, leaving the matter of finances largely up to the various counties in which the markers will be placed. Other funds, of course, will come from time to time from individuals and other interested groups.

It is hoped that the program is well received throughout Nebraska. Nebraska's heritage is an enviable one and never has there been a time of need for greater understanding and appreciation of history on all levels of government than there is today. Men and women of strong character and deep convictions hewed from Nebraska's plains the beginnings of the life we enjoy today. It is both fitting and beneficial that we recognize the contributions of these pioneers from whom so much courage can still be drawn.

Embodied in this program is the pride and stimulation it takes to build from the past the dreams for the future. There is recognition here of achievement and the conquest of great obstacles—lessons we can never learn too well. It is hoped, not only that the marker program is a success, but that it represents just the start of an even more ambitious undertaking.

Declining Hospital Support

Nebraska's hospital expansion picture at this juncture shows a place for $14 million if the government would put up $5,710,000 of it.

That's the dream.

Facts make it different.

The State Board of Health was told this week that the new Eisenhower budget has only $819,951 earmarked for Nebraska in 1959. That is in contrast to $967,341 which will be available this year.

Whether smaller allocations mean a stretch-out of Nebraska's program or the beginning of a major withdrawal of federal aid awaits further developments. But declining hospital aid is an initial taste of the effect of Washington's program of more guns, less butter. Reduced agricultural expenditures as well as curtailment of resources development are of the same character.

Well, That's Over

The multitude of Americans who spent a portion of their Tuesday evening following the speaking at one or another of the 40 odd Republican dinners finally got a clear vision of what ails the country.

The big menace is not Russia with its Communism and Sputnik. Rather it is the Democrats.

Purchasing Oddities

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A great many things pass through the human mind in a fleeting second and are then lost in a flood of more and, we hope, better thoughts. A light flashed on in a remote brain cell this week at the sight of a very small story, about two sentences, dealing with the city's approval of a resolution for the purchase of six new cruiser cars for the Police Department. The subject and the length of the story didn't fit any previous pattern as that subject has, in the past, been worthy of much more detailed treatment. For this reason our curiosity was aroused and by satisfying that we satisfied also the disgust experienced in this field of city business many times in the past.

This week, the City Council approved a low bid of $8,868 for the purchase of six new Police Department cruiser cars. This would not be unusual except for the fact that it is the first time, in several years, at least, that the low bid on cruiser cars has been accepted. This bid was submitted by a firm handling the same kind or make of car on which low bids had been rejected in the past. The low bid, $9,489, was submitted on a make of car which has been purchased in the past despite the fact that the bid was not low. Past reasoning, if that is what you can call it, was that the higher bid was better because it left the Police Department cruiser fleet composed entirely of one single make of car. There was reportedly efficiency to be obtained here in both the operation and maintenance of vehicles in the city garage.

Theoretically, a car would last longer if the man driving it had always driven that same make of car. What earthly difference that makes in this day of automatic transmissions could never be figured out, especially when it was costing taxpayers thousands of dollars, but the reason was accepted by the City Council. Also, it was argued that the police garage could operate more efficiently if the entire cruiser fleet was composed of the same make of car. The hole in that argument was and still is that the garage handles all city cars, not just cruisers, and this includes a variety of models. But, once again, the City Council blindly accepted the argument and the taxpayers were hooked for more money.

It was also argued that the car represented by the higher bid, while in the same retail price field, was more efficient and economical to operate — gave better gas mileage and lasted longer. The Council accepted this argument without question and without checking the records of the garage superintendent. Had they checked the records of the superintendent, as this paper did, the Council would have seen for itself that this argument was absolutely without foundation and that the facts showed that for the purpose for which the city was using cars, the situation as to mileage and durability was directly opposite to that presented by officials seeking approval of the higher bid. The last time this friendly Council attitude prevailed was on Oct. 10, 1956. A $16,302 bid for 11 cars was accepted, even though the city purchasing agent had recommended acceptance of a lower bid of $15,861. This cost the taxpayers $441 for which they received absolutely no additional benefit.

This week's circumstances were identical to those of Oct. 10, 1956. The same bidder who was low then submitted the low bid of $8,868 this time. The same bidder who was second low then submitted the second low bid of $9,489 this time. But lo and behold, the Council this time accepted the recommendation of the purchasing agent for the low bidder, and without getting or asking for any discussion about a unified fleet, operation and maintenance costs, etc. You would logically wonder why this reversal has taken place. In addition to the hope that the Council has gotten smarter, there is the fact that in contrast to 1956, there is now on the Council one member who in private business happens to sell the same kind of a car, for a different firm, on which the low bid was submitted both this week and in 1956.

Quash House Probe Criticizing The FCC

WASHINGTON—When the Moulder committee finally decided behind closed doors to sidestep a penetrating probe of the Federal Communications Commission, it had before it a highly confidential document. The investigation that went into this document cost about $250,000 and was the chief reason the congressmen decided to duck any detailed scrutiny of the governmental agency which hands out priceless TV and radio licenses.

This column has now obtained a copy of the document. And since the congressmen, by a 6-to-2 vote, chickened out on telling the public the truth, this column will publish pertinent parts of the confidential memo.

It should be noted in passing that Speaker Sam Rayburn, the father of the Federal Communications Commission, last year stepped down from the speaker's rostrum to make a rare and fervent plea that the $250,000 be appropriated. Last week he made a public statement blessing the committee's run-out.

THE SECRET VOTE

The secret vote inside the committee to take this run-out powder is important. Two congressmen, Moss of California and Moulder of Missouri, both Democrats, voted to proceed. All Republicans voted to chicken. They included Heselton of Massachusetts and Hale of Maine, close friends of fellow New Englander, Assistant President Sherman Adams, whose wire-pulling with the FCC would have been under scrutiny. Voting with them were Bennett of Michigan and O'Hara of Minnesota, Republicans, with Flynn of Georgia and Williams of Mississippi, two Dixiecrats who denounce Eisenhower regarding Little Rock but try not to embarrass him on anything else.

Any probe of the FCC would have been highly embarrassing, first because the President's brother-in-law was involved; second because Sherman Adams was involved; third, because in at least one case, a member of the cabinet, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, was involved. He and Adams were mixed up in the award of a valuable TV station to the Boston Herald and Traveler in contradiction to FCC precedents and despite a strong recommendation by FCC subordinates to the contrary.

On the Democratic side, Sam Rayburn's nephew, FCC commissioner Robert Bartley, would have been slightly embarrassed in another matter.

Here is one pertinent part of the confidential memo prepared by Committee Counsel Charles Schwartz which scared the living daylight out of the investigating congressmen:

"The Federal Communications Commission is the supreme court of the communications industry. If the commissioners have acted in a manner that would be deemed improper in a judge they have not lived up to such (judicial) powers. It is proposed that the first subject to be gone into be the conduct of members of the Federal Communications Commission indicating a deviation from the judicial standard which the Congress intended them to follow."

Demo Councils Lacking Strength

WASHINGTON — The device of Democratic advisory councils was projected as an aggressive liberal counterpoise to the predominantly southern leadership of the Democratic Congress. In practice, the councils are showing a marked tendency to tie the party's future closely to its immediate past.

Their members have deferred politely to each other's opinions and in the main have protected their interests in past policies associated with their own names. The end result has been long, wordy statements and an absence of a strong, concerted attack on the Republican administration.

Without doubt, these statements are conscientiously arrived at, but as incitements to political action they are very nearly worthless.

For example, the Council's committee on foreign policy met here to offer a little competition to the kickoff of the Republican congressional campaign in a nationwide series of dinners. The committee chairman is former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who shares with President Eisenhower a deep love of the NATO alliance which both did so much to create.

Acheson was already in print with an attack on his old associate, George Kennan, who had offered some new ideas on ways to break the diplomatic stalemate with the Soviet Union. Acheson apparently fears the Kennan proposals would injure NATO.

Speaking to reporters, Acheson took the Eisenhower-Dulles position that high-level talks with the Russians would be a mistake now.

Pearl Harbor Is Dwarfed By Present

NEW YORK — In a recent piece, in groping for a phrase to describe the current hunt for a scapegoat in the American missile mess, I took the name of a good man in vain. From Groton, Conn., he writes, forgivingly and informatively:

"In an article signed by you and published in the New York Journal-American I note the following passage: 'while the Johnson subcommittee labors with its homeric tasks, lesser and noisier groups will search for the 'Adm. Kimmel' or the 'Gen. Short' of our missiles catastrophe.'"

"It occurs to me that you might be interested in the opinion of the officers and trustees of the United States Naval Academy Alumni Association as to my actions in connection with the Pearl Harbor catastrophe. I am therefore enclosing a copy of the resolution recently sent to me together with a reprint of an article by Admiral Shorthorn on the occasion of my selection as president of the class of 1904, U.S. Naval Academy."

"I know of no group of our citizens whose members are better qualified by education and experience to judge my actions."

"Yours very truly—

HUSBAND E. KIMMEL"

The events that led to World War II now sound as archaic as

He also called for exploratory negotiations, which is a move the administration has indicated it would be willing to take. These being the main points on which the United States and some of its major allies seem to differ, the remainder of Acheson's comments lacked point and smacked of mere scolding.

Acheson refused to agree that he was agreeing with the President and Dulles. He has also said privately that he realizes he was a little hard on Kennan.

Political issues cannot, of course, be manufactured out of personal conflicts and feelings of personal injustice. The voters will not accept these as grounds for change, however justified they may be.

None of this appears very serious to some of the old line Democratic politicians who operate on the theory that the party out of power has to be kicked back in by the mistakes of the opposition. This group will gladly join in some of the kicking — former President Truman is an example — but takes little stock in constructive criticism as the road to triumph at the polls.

If their purely pragmatic approach to their 1960 problem is the correct one, then it does not, of course, too much matter who the candidate for President is, so long as no important segment of the voters is mad at him. This would be good news to the many ambitious Democratic governors who are rarely able to compete with the congressional headlines.

Half A Truth

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: A recent government report of Nebraska's near-record corn production for 1957, figured at a price of $1.35 per bushel, gives city people the idea that farmers have enjoyed a good season. But less than half of the truth was told. The same day the report was printed in the newspapers, Grade 3 corn was selling at Omaha for 93 cents on a sluggish market.

The bad weather made the harvest slow. A very small percentage of irrigated corn will grade as high as No. 3. Much of it is rotting in the ear and shows serious mildew spoilage. None of it can be shelled and shipped. The local markets are bad. Instead of corn being measured at 54 pounds per bushel, the heavy moisture content requires 80 pounds or more. A Merrick County landlord sold his crop at 65 cents per hundred pounds on the ear. This is a far cry from the optimistic report of a profitable corn crop. The cash returns for alfalfa and milo are comparably discouraging.

Selfish Motive

Dorchester, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the January 17 issue of The Star was a letter about the "Way of the Hen." It seems very logical up to a point, showing a mutual feeling of good will, but when they were all huddled together on that cold morning trying to keep warm, I would bet a penny that the older hens were in the center of the flock. The cold weather wouldn't soften their hearts as much as it would offer the opportunity for them to gain protection from the cold for themselves by using the young hens.

Lots Of Land

Davey, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The big push is on, particularly in four states, on a trial basis. Goodbye, little farm operator and renter. You have had your day and will soon be down the drain, part of the present four million unemployed.

The small operator is rated as "too inefficient." Cheaper interest, less taxation, and more liberal initial credit would help his efficiency. And the ceiling limit per individual as far as federal assistance in any form is concerned would be a step in the right direction.

Selfishly, I personally do not want to go down, so perhaps I should make application to join the elite of graduated soil bankers, place myself in the market for land, lots of it, and accumulate all this extra land, which should be cheap in price but good enough to qualify for the big push under the superb General Benson and the electorate called Congress. They seem to bicker but their agreements spell elimination. Their self-imposed recent increase in salary should naturally rate us a better show.

With this vast acreage that I am about to accumulate and all the reserve, I will be in the unemployed class and therefore entitled to unemployment compensation and all other benefits. This is class — I am now an "efficient" land owner and operator. This is so much better than battling insects, weather, 65 per cent parity, and all the other occupational hazards connected with farming an acreage that has too much land to qualify for federal housing and not enough to get under the Farmers Home Administration barriers. It is even better than the bread lines of the years before and after 1930. The more generous the hand-out, the more efficient we seem to be. All I need is more plow acres. You keep the plow.

It is to our sorrow that most of us had to learn to walk before we could trot. As for the silver spoon, I guess I never had it. But I want to be "efficient," too, so give me land, lots of land. Don't fence me in or push me out. I want to be an unproductive patriot, a self-respecting, efficient acreage re-servist.

I would write to my congressmen, but I have done this in the past to no avail. It is my opinion that at the present time we as small businessmen and farmers along with some classes of labor are sadly in need of good congressional representation in this state and Washington, D.C.

Economic Plan

Omaha, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The current tax budget blasts all hope for tax reduction for a long time to come. The question is: can we survive? At no time in the history of the nation has this question had more urgent meaning than at this time when the President is asking for permission to raise the debt limit to

The People Speak

Editor's note: Be brief. Limit letters to 200 words or less. Letters signed by a pen name or initials must be accompanied by writer's name. Letters represent only contributors' views.

$280 billion and an appropriation of $76 billion for the national budget, 64 per cent of which is to be used for international war preparation, at a time when we are supposed to be at peace — 22 per cent for civil benefits — 11 per cent for interest to keep money in circulation to carry on the nation's business.

We know what the answer must be. Here is a program which will insure that answer if we act now. Today we manufacture thousands of articles not known in trade a few years ago. That means the medium of exchange used in trade and commerce must be greatly expanded. Interest on the dollars created to support the increased trade places a hidden tax on every article we buy. The higher the prices are, the higher the interest taxes will be. It becomes a vicious cycle. The penalty we pay for uncontrolled hidden taxes becomes a surplus of agricultural and manufactured products stored in warehouses, which the consumer cannot buy for lack of purchasing power.

Our outmoded money system is responsible for our economic ills. In order to maintain our present high production rate, it becomes necessary for private individuals to borrow and buy on the installment plan merchandise valued at $72 billion annually. That $72 billion of new borrowed purchasing power also exacts a high rate of interest from the people in order to keep the wheels of industry greased and moving in our profit-making market. Then there are other billions of dollars the federal government has borrowed to take excess farm products off the market, those that have not been consumed and constitute a serious backlog. What does that prove and what does it mean to our national economy?

Well, it proves we cannot lift ourselves out of the muck and mire of too much production combined with approximately four million unemployed at present, resulting in too little earned purchasing power which in turn is caused by our outmoded bonding and taxing system in an effort to keep our economy from bogging down.

Our present money system, medium of exchange, based entirely upon a borrowing debt is antiquated. With industry producing more and more goods, and improvement of machines which results in less use of manual labor, it behooves our nation to issue its own constitutional money for our medium of exchange to pay for labor and material on self-liquidating state and federal projects, thus keeping down unemployment and keeping up the purchasing power used to produce business profits.

There are two monetary needs to be served in our free enterprise system: (1) for ordinary bank credit dollars to serve individual purposes, and (2) the other for legal tender currency issued by Congress and paid into circulation for the building of self-liquidating state and public works such as highways, post offices, electric power plants and other federal projects.

We would propose a bill by Congress authorizing the building of a national super highway system by the direct issue of legal tender currency, thus avoiding further bonded debt and interest charges, in the amount of $10 billion annually over a 10-year period, and create a board of national highway management having the power of construction and maintenance of said national highway system; this could result in repeal of the federal gas and oil tax laws which annually take a billion dollars from the traveling public. This would give every state in our nation necessary highways and stop the slaughter due to inadequate facilities now existing in our highway system; it also would employ upward of five million men and solve our unemployment problem.

The authority to use and issue U.S. legal tender currency in the building of a national highway system is established in the Constitution and Supreme Court decisions. We are suggesting such a plan because: (1) the nation is in desperate need of an adequate highway system to meet the needs of present-day transportation; (2) the nation's economy is threatened by excessive taxation; (3) the nation's and the states, bonded indebtedness must be lowered, not increased; (4) Congress has the power to issue the money for the building of a national highway system and should do so.

It is completely within the power of Congress to take all the actions necessary to complete this program if the people demand it. They would save the taxpayers billions of dollars and reduce the national debt; they would greatly improve our national safety; they would increase our transportation facilities in time of peace to protect us in time of war. It is nonsense to think that we will ever have enough money in the budget under our present financial system to achieve the strength we must have, or perish. We have plenty of able and resourceful men, second to none in Russia or the Communist world who can put us back on top of the heap if Congress will only let them do it. Let's clear away the absurd obstacles that now clutter their path!

White House: Adams' Speech That Aroused Democrats 'Speaks For Itself'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said Tuesday a speech in which Sherman Adams aroused Democrats by accusing them of playing politics with national defense "speaks for itself."

And James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, repeated a previous statement that President Eisenhower was aware in advance of what Adams, his top assistant, was going to say.

Also, Hagerty said, Adams obviously was aware of what the President was going to tell a nationwide radio-TV audience in his own speech from Chicago Monday night.

Not Similar

Eisenhower said the objective of security and a just peace "is not a partisan or political matter." He made no statement similar to that Adams made at a similar Republican rally in Minneapolis—that the Democrats have been "politicking with national defense."

Hagerty had said Monday morning, before the content of the Eisenhower and Adams speeches was known, that the President was aware of what Adams would say although he had not read the address in advance.

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, said Tuesday:

'Crossed Up'

"It's too bad the coach and the quarterback didn't get together before the game and before they got crossed up on their signals."

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee said "our Republican brethren have been playing plenty of politics, trying to hang the blame for our lag in missiles on former President Truman."

He said it would make about as much sense for the Democrats to "blame everything on former President Hoover because he didn't spend a cent on missiles during his administration."

Challenged

Russell and some other Senate

Democrats also challenged one of Eisenhower's Chicago statements—that the nation's security has been "markedly strengthened" during his five years in office.

The Georgia Democrat said the United States has made progress in those years but "the Russians have made much faster gains than we have."

Russell agreed with a statement by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) that "comparatively speaking, we are considerably less secure than when Eisenhower took office."

Youth Killed

MINNEAPOLIS (INS)—Keith Wells, 12, was killed and his 13-year-old companion critically injured when the car they stole plowed into a tree in the Minneapolis suburb of Chaska.

Police said they chased the stolen car at speeds up to 80 miles per hour before the accident. The dead youth and his companion, David Gilbertson, both of suburban Bloomington, had to be cut out of the wreckage with torches.

WASHINGTON (INS)—If the rising cost of living gives you a headache, you'll be sad to learn the cure is costing you more, too.

The government's monthly report on the cost of living, issued Tuesday, reported an advance in medical care costs, and said it was due largely to an increase in the price of aspirin.

There was no explanation as to why aspirin had gone up but a government spokesman commented that there is a large demand for aspirin in the winter season.

Bows, Arrows Report Is Still Tagged Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two science leaders testified Tuesday that the government has drawn the secrecy veil even over bows and arrows and shark repellents.

Drs. Wallace R. Brode and Hiden T. Cox joined in telling the House Government Information Subcommittee headed by Rep. Moss (D-Calif.) that the secret stamp should be removed nearly completely from basic research. They also said the government should do more to spread scientific knowledge.

Brode is president of the American Assn. for Advancement of Science and new head of the State Department's revived science attaché program. Cox is executive director of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

They said secrecy should be applied more narrowly, to weapons applications rather than to basic research, and they asked that multiple security clearances now required of persons working for different agencies be replaced by a standard security check good for all bureaus.

Translation

They advocated federal sponsorship of a central clearing house for scientific material and aid in such matters as translation, publication and development of a method making today's ever-swelling volume of scientific literature available to scientists in workable form.

Cox said he was informed that military information about shark repellents has now been declassified—that portion which is more than 10 years old, that is. He said he understood the material involved a list of instances of attacks by sharks.

Brode told of a physicist who had archery as a hobby and during World War II directed some side experiments on possible further use of bows and arrows. He said the bow and arrow information still is locked up despite requests to strip off the secrecy label.

Another Dairy To Reduce Prices On Home Deliveries

Another Lincoln dairy, Skyline Farms, has announced price reductions on home-delivered milk, effective Wednesday.

Their Gurn-Z-Gold, vitamin-D milk will be 23 cents a quart, a cut of one cent; and 45 cents per half-gallon, a two cent reduction.

On Monday two other leading Lincoln dairies—Beatrice Foods and Roberts—had announced similar cuts on home-delivered milk, starting Wednesday.

One more dairy, Fairmont Foods, reported Tuesday that its prices "will be competitive" but the reduction had not yet been worked out.

Law For More Humane Livestock Slaughter Forecast

DENVER (INS)—American Humane Assn. Executive Director R. T. Phillips predicted Tuesday Congress would enact a law this session calling for humane slaughtering of livestock.

Phillips, before leaving for Washington from the association's Denver headquarters Tuesday, said the measure was still too mild, but nonetheless was a step forward.

The bill would require federal agencies to purchase meat supplies from packing houses using humane killing methods. Phillips said this would bring more humane slaughtering methods to about 8 per cent of the livestock killed annually in the nation.

Minister Fails To Surrender In Riot Case

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP)—A South Carolina minister, one of those indicted on charges of inciting a riot between Ku Klux Klansmen and Indians, failed to surrender here Tuesday as ordered and Sheriff Malcolm McLeod said the minister now is considered a fugitive from North Carolina.

Superior Court Judge Clawson Williams signed a capias (order for arrest) mailed to officers at Marion, S.C. asking that the Rev. James Cole, self-styled KKK leader, be arrested immediately and held for North Carolina police.

Sheriff McLeod said the capias probably would arrive at Marion Wednesday. A copy also was sent to the State Bureau of Investigation at Raleigh, requesting that Cole be taken into custody if he appears at a scheduled Klan rally next Saturday night near Burlington, N.C., about 100 miles north of here.

Machinery

The capias asks Sheriff J. Leon Gasque of Marion County, S.C., to bring Cole at once to the Robeson County Sheriff's Office if he waives extradition. If he does not waive, the paper asks Sheriff Gasque to set up machinery for an immediate extradition hearing before South Carolina Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr.

Cole, at his Marion, S.C., home would say only that his lawyer had advised him, "don't do anything until you hear from me."

A horde of armed Indians, incensed by reports that the Ku Klux Klan's planned rally near Maxton last Saturday night was intended as a warning to them against "race mixing," broke up the rally by firing into the air, roughed up the klansmen, wrecked their rally platform and saw the klansmen rescued by state police.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

It has been raining for five days now in Acapulco. Great slashing, tropical rains. Booming on the rooftops and firing cascades of water from the rain gutters into the narrow Mexican streets.

The sky is thick with cloud. The Pacific, far below our cliffs, the color of lead. The sea is rough and there are hurricane winds to the north.

When I was the youthful pride of the merchant marine, my ship recruited its quartermasters from Acapulco. They were short, dark sailors and all of them seemed to be named Ramirez.

One of them called Manuel told me he had been wrecked in one of these storms. They call them "Tehuantepecs." He swam for eight hours.

As he swam, he prayed to the Virgin of Guadalupe. He promised to burn a fortune in candles.

As things looked blacker, Manuel made harder promises.

"I promise to give up the smoke-
"After awhile he thought he saw a shark fin.
"I pray more and I promise
eef I get ashore, I no more dreck-
een."

Manuel swam on. Things were tough all over.

"Then I say, 'Eff I get on the shore, I no more chasen the girls!'"

A short time later, his feet hit bottom and he climbed up on the beach.

"What did you do, Manuel?"

"Oh, I burn the candles and I no smoken or dreenken or chase the girls for two weeks. Then I theenk, 'Ees better to be een the ocean than leev thees way.' I get drunk, smoke, chase the girl. I make new promises. I promises ne-vair make such promises again."

Manuel and I had the gangway watch in Acapulco. Our job was to greet the townspeople who came aboard.

There was no road to the fishing village of Acapulco in those days. When a ship came in everybody came aboard to touch the outside world.

They all wore big pistols and, in the excitement were apt to pull them out and shoot a few holes in the overhead out of sheer exhuberance.

It was our job to take their pistols and check them. They let them go reluctantly. Every one in awhile, they would come back to see if they were all right.

They do not carry pistols openly in Acapulco any more. But they carry them.

There has been a recent roundup of pistols. The police som times get a thousand in one search.

Board Sets Hearings On Truckers' Applications

The State Railway Commission Tuesday scheduled a Jan. 27 hearing on the application of John McCroden, doing business as John McCroden Truck Lines, Ogallala, for authority to operate in intrastate commerce.

The operating authority of Doris Richling, doing business as Richling Transport Service, Beatrice, was revoked unless she appears before the Commission Feb. 1 and shows why her operating certificate should not be suspended.

The commission also set these hearing dates for persons and firms seeking authority to operate in intrastate commerce:

Gerald Strassheim, doing business as Jerry's Tank Service, Kimball, Jan. 29; C. R. Porter and Verda N. Porter, doing business as C. R. Porter Truck Service, Plainville, Kan., Jan. 30; Ralph E. Darling, doing business as Darling Transport Service, Auburn, Jan. 31.

New Elevator May Be Ready For '58 Crops

DALTON, Neb. 22 — A quarter million bushels of grain storage will be added in Cheyenne County through the Dalton Co-Op Society's new concrete elevator.

The Co-Op hopes to have the elevator ready for the 1958 crop. Dalton is the marketing point for much of the productive Dalton table.

LAND MARK COMMITTEE MAKES LOCATION CHECK

Preliminary location studies are underway for placement of historical landmarks throughout the state as provided in the Nebraska Historical Land Mark Act passed by the 1957 Legislature.

Designs also are being studied for the markers, which will be made of cast aluminum, painted, with an appropriate and distinctive insignia.

Dr. W. D. Aeschbacher, director of the Nebraska Historical Society and secretary of the Historical Land Marks Committee, said some of the "very obvious" locations probably will be marked first.

"No money was appropriated for the program for this biennium," Dr. Aeschbacher noted, "so the cost of the individual markers must be borne by the local government subdivisions, civic groups or individuals in the locality."

Under $350

He estimated the cost of each marker to be under $350.

Communities which believe a particular location should be marked may make application to the committee to have that spot placed on the approved list.

Other members of the committee, as provided by law, are State Engineer L. N. Riss and C. V. Price, chief of the Division of Nebraska Resources.

The committee must approve any historic marker or sign erected after Sept. 20, 1957, according to the law, Dr. Aeschbacher said.

Local financing will be up to the community, the committee secretary said. The committee will deal only with the county commissioners in taking application for marker sites and receiving payment for the markers.

Each marker will carry the date of erection, the statement that it was erected by the Historical Land

Bingo Petitions Hold 63% Of Needed Names

Nebraska's bingo petition campaign was some 63 per cent of the way toward its goal Tuesday, with 35,876 apparently valid signatures, a spokesman reported.

Robert Lowe, state Veterans of Foreign Wars adjutant, described prospects of success as "very good."

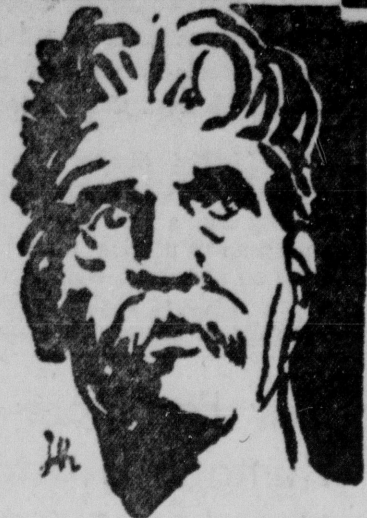

Petitions with 5,794 approved signatures must be turned in by July 3 to put the proposed bingo constitutional amendment on the November general election ballot.

However, Lowe said he would like to have petitions with around 70,000 apparently good signatures "so as to leave no room for any question as to their sufficiency."

The VFW and the Fraternal Order of Eagles undertook the campaign after the last Legislature rejected a move to put the amendment legalizing the game to a popular vote.

Lowe said he is trying to get additional petitions turned in this week for an up-to-date report at a meeting of the state VFW's Council of Administration in Fremont next Sunday.

Soviet Warns Middle East

Moscow Says U.S. Plans To Set Up Nuclear, Missile Bases

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union said Tuesday the United States is planning to set up nuclear and missile bases in the Middle East. It warned Middle East countries such bases would be a threat to their existence and their religious shrines.

The warning was sounded at a special news conference called six days before the Baghdad Pact members open a conference at Ankara.

The timing was similar to the letters of Premier Nikolai Bulganin to the heads of NATO governments just before last month's Western summit meeting in Paris. As a result the NATO meeting, called to discuss strengthening of the alliance to meet Soviet advances in long range missiles, spent a lot of time discussing Bulganin's refurbished proposals for East-West talks.

Leonid Ilychev, the foreign ministry spokesman, used the news conference as a springboard for a denunciation of the Baghdad Pact and especially of Turkey, the host country for the pact meeting next week.

Turkey, he said, had taken "an especially aggressive stand" against Russia at the NATO meeting. Turkey is a member both of the Baghdad and NATO Pacts.

He made these assertions: The United States is planning to link the Baghdad Pact with the NATO Alliance and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO).

The United States, Britain and Turkey are trying to expand the Baghdad Pact militarily by bringing pressure on other Middle Eastern countries, including Lebanon and Jordan, to join the alliance.

He said Secretary of State Dulles is going to Ankara "not only in his official capacity but as a confidential agent of American oil monopolists and primarily the oil empire of the Rockefellers."

Solution

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some sightseers tend to throw or drop things from the top of the 555-foot Washington monument.

From that height a penny will dent an auto. Recently a falling two-pound telescopic lens broke a woman's hand.

The National Park Service's solution:

Transparent plastic "bubble" protectors to be installed outside each of the eight observation windows.

Mayor Lauds City, School Co-Operation

Mayor Bennett Martin Tuesday night noted the close co-operation of school and city officials in making Lincoln an educational forerunner.

Mayor Martin spoke at the dedication of Norwood Park elementary school, 72nd and Douglas. A $220,000 addition and renovation of the older building has recently been completed.

The city and school officials have helped to attain the best schools for our children, Mayor Martin said.

School Superintendent Steven N. Watkins was master of ceremonies at the dedication. Mrs. Corbin Siemering, PTA president, accepted the building in behalf of the parents, and Principal Robert Norman, in behalf of the pupils and school staff, from Robert Venner, who represented the Board of Education.

National and state flags were presented to the school by the Havelock VFW and the Havelock businessmen.

Girl, 13, Raped In School Basement; Negro Youth Held

NEW YORK (AP)—A 15-year-old Negro boy raped a 13-year-old white girl in the basement of a Brooklyn junior high school Tuesday, police reported.

The girl, an eighth grade student at John Marshall High School, was taken to Kings County Hospital in a state of shock.

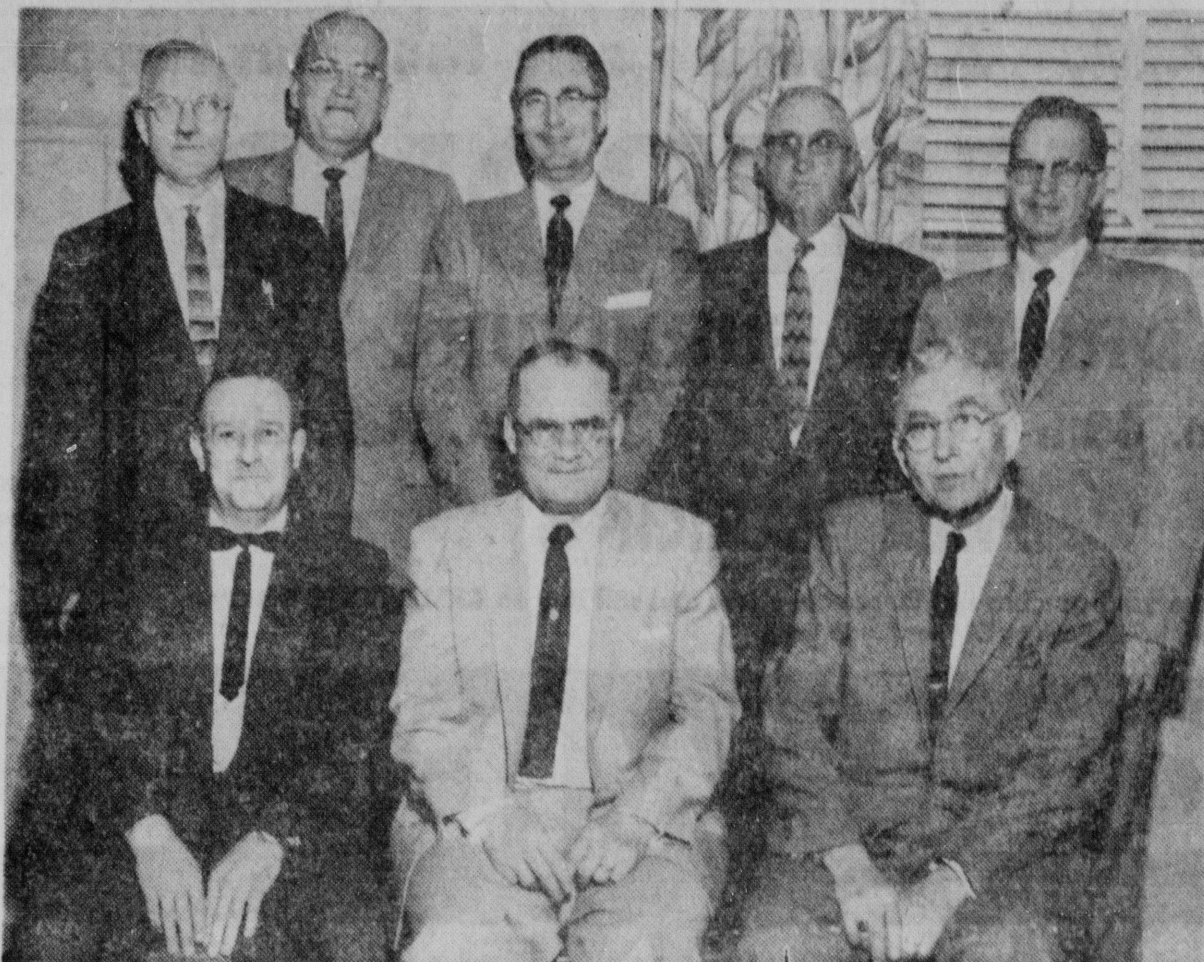

Police seized a youth, believed to be a student also, shortly after the incident and held him at the hospital for possible identification by the girl when her condition permitted.

Police withheld their names because of their ages.

After assaulting her, the youth fled. The girl ran hysterically to the cafeteria where an employee took her to principal George Goldfarb's office.

Goldfarb called an ambulance and police.

Six police cars responded and after a search of the area took the youth into custody.

State Savings, Loan Reports Record Assets

State Savings and Loan Assn. held annual meeting sessions in Beatrice Tuesday, reporting the highest level of assets in the company's 58 years of business.

Total assets stood at $18,210,922 at the end of 1957. M. S. Hevelone of Beatrice, association president, reported.

Outlook for the company is more favorable now than in 1957. Hevelone told the annual meeting audience. At present the association not only is a member of the Federal Savings and Loan Corp. but also has a large credit reserve of its own.

To insure a sound liquid position, the association possesses a reserve in excess of 20 per cent of total investments.

Lincoln men re-elected at the Beatrice meeting were O. D. Johnson, vice president, and Glenn Buck, director. Johnson is in charge of the Lincoln office.

Beatrice officers and directors re-elected are Hevelone, president; L. E. Whittaker, secretary; W. R. Arppe, assistant secretary; Iva E. Kramer, assistant secretary; H. R. Deitemeyer, treasurer; Eyleene Woods, assistant treasurer, and H. E. Sackett and J. Don Stevens, directors.

Meteor Shower Danger Less Than Thought—Russ

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet scientists have made a full report on information obtained from Sputnik I to world headquarters of the International Geophysical Year, Tass said Tuesday. The Soviet news agency said one important conclusion was that the danger from showers of meteors in space is much less than was thought.

The scientists reported Sputnik I passed through numerous meteor showers and remained undamaged. They said the man-made moon disintegrated Jan. 4, exactly as they had predicted.

Bombs Tossed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Three dynamite bombs were thrown from automobiles speeding through the streets of Beirut. They caused only minor damage and nobody was injured. The identity of the persons responsible was undetermined.

Lebanese authorities have blamed Syrians, Palestinian Arabs and dissident Lebanese for similar noisy outbreaks in the past. The object seems to be to stir up trouble for the pro-Western government of President Camille Chamoun and Premier Sami Solh.

Harold Thom of Omaha, grand historian of the Nebraska Grand Lodge AF&AM, addressed the annual meeting attended by about 80 Scottish Rite Masons who have been active in bringing new members into the fraternity.

Thom said every Mason "should demand" public officials keep themselves free from moral laxity and social and political vices.

He said if America is to maintain its leadership and existence young people must be taught and older people reminded "of the value of our heritage."

The Pioneer Hail Insurance Co. and the Old Homestead Hail Insurance Co., both located at 919 Trust Bldg., jointly re-elected officers and directors at their annual meeting.

H. E. Stapleton, who was re-elected president of the companies, reported that prospects for the firms looked good for 1958 because of the excellent crop year in 1957. The two companies had a normal loss ratio last year, he said.

Also re-elected were: N. E. Stapleton, secretary; and C. L. Steele and Earl Carlson, directors.

State's Winter Wheat Crop Maintains Bright Outlook

Soil Moisture Supply Said Best In Years

Winter wheat maintained its good to excellent condition in Nebraska during the past week, government crop observers said Tuesday.

A few areas in the west could use some surface moisture," the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics commented in its weekly crop review. But in general the soil moisture supply for winter wheat "is the best in many years and a marked improvement over a year ago."

Other crop report observations: Continued open weather last week was favorable for farm work and for livestock, although recent heavy snows in some southeastern counties will hinder livestock pasturing and seasonal field work.

Abundant Feed
Feed supplies are abundant and less than the usual amount of hay and forage has been used so far this winter because of near ideal conditions that have prevailed.

Some grain drying operations continue as farmers endeavor to reduce moisture content to a level that will insure the grain's keeping quality.

Livestock continue to make good gains and maintain better than average production rates.

Precipitation received throughout Nebraska during the week ending Monday included:

	East	West
Grand Island	2.50	1.00
Lincoln	2.50	1.00
Burwell	1.50	1.00
North Platte	1.50	1.00

situation earlier with Defense Department officials.

"It was just one year ago," Henninger said, "that the President assured us 'that he would never let the strength of the guard drop below 400,000.'"

Efforts now are being made, he said, to reduce the guard to 360,000.

York School Post To Riggs

YORK, Neb. (AP)—Wayne L. Riggs, superintendent of schools at Wahoo for the last three years, has been named superintendent at York to succeed Wayne Frazer, who resigned earlier to take the superintendency of the school system at Atchison, Kan.

Riggs will begin his duties at the close of the current school year. A native of Shubert,

Plans Announced For National Water Resources Meet Here

Some of America's top leaders in the field of water use and conservation will gather here on March 11, 12 and 13 for the National Water Resources Institute.

Organized by a group of Nebraska citizens headed by Dean W. V. Lambert of the Nebraska College of Agriculture and Carl Deitemeyer of Lincoln, the Institute will serve as a national forum for the discussion of water problems and policies. It is an outgrowth of a statewide water use meeting sponsored last spring by the University of Nebraska.

Organizers of the Institute believe it represents the first attempt to study all aspects of water resource problems at a national level. Included in the program will be discussions of water supply and use; water control; water requirements for agriculture, industry and navigation; water conservation; and sectional water problems and policy.

'Ideal Location'
Sponsors believe that Nebraska is ideally situated for such an institute because it is located in the heart of both the nation and the Great Plains, and itself encompasses a broad variety of water use and conservation problems.

Heading the list of speakers on the opening day will be Luna B. Leopold of Washington, D.C.,

Sidney Urged To Delay Talk With Pentagon

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—The Sidney Chamber of Commerce has been advised to put off its meeting with Pentagon officials about the Sioux Ordnance Depot here until the presidential budget has been studied a little more.

Rep. Miller (R-Neb.) told Sidney chamber officials in a letter that the meeting should be delayed until late in February or early in March, and that he is trying to set up a conference with top Pentagon officials for a thorough discussion.

Sidney wants to explore the potentialities of the depot in the modern defense picture, particularly in view of the location of a missile launching site at nearby Cheyenne, Wyo.

The Sioux Ordnance Depot has been designated as a permanent army installation and many of its structures have been made permanent. One appropriation for $250,000 already has been approved this year for additional work at the depot.

Jack H. Lowe of Sidney and Clark Williams of Scottsbluff plan to make the trip to Washington to discuss the prospects for the depot.

Both the truck and car rolled over after the collision, Sheriff Welch said, and both were demolished.

Seaton Believes Americans 'Selling Themselves Short'

DES MOINES (AP) — Americans are "selling themselves short" by not paying enough attention to American scientific exploits, Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton says.

Seaton told some 2,300 Republicans attending a $25-a-plate fund raising dinner here the United States has "serious problems ahead" because of Russian achievements with Sputniks. But he added:

"Flying into a frenzy isn't going to do a thing for us."

The real problem America faces, he said, is to "win the scientific and technological race of the next 10 years, and at the same time to be sure we keep America free and keep her strong."

The secretary, who is publisher of the Hastings, Neb., Tribune, derided down predictions by persons he called "Democratic doctors of gloom and depression who never let confidence interfere with discouragement."

Seaton said Democrats have blamed the defense situation on GOP economies but he said Congress last year cut $2,600,000,000 from Eisenhower's defense appropriations request.

Economic Setback 'Might Aid Nation In Religious Ways'

OMAHA (AP) — An Iowa College president said that an economic setback might be what Americans need to "re-establish a belief in God and to regain their respect for spiritual values."

Dr. Millard G. Roberts of Parsons College, commented that in long periods of prosperity Christianity usually has rough sledding and added that he is not impressed with the fact that church membership is at an all-time high.

"Church-goers aren't necessarily Christians. I believe there are fewer people today who really believe in God and 'live up' to their belief, than at any time since the Civil War," the former New York minister said in a talk to an Omaha civic club.

When the country is prosperous and people are making plenty of money "they tend to develop too much faith in themselves. Things are going so well that they forget about God. They think they can get along without Him," Dr. Robert said.

He said most Americans suffer from what he called a narcissus complex . . . "if they lean too far over the water in order to admire their reflection there is danger that they might fall in and drown."

WE COULD begin the day's work with the thought that January is on the wane—but we've used that one before about some other month—so, since we have nothing spectacular to offer that involves our own views on the month, the year, or the state of the nation, we'll scurry along to our news.

THIS year the Nebraska Art Association has named two honorary members—One of them is Mrs. Bromley Sheldon of Lexington—a proper and fitting choice—and the second is Samuel C. Waugh of Washington, D.C. Mr. Waugh's honorary membership confuses us a little since Mr. Waugh has been a member of the Nebraska Art Association for years and years —But it's a very nice courtesy. THIS seems to be the season for cruising—at least figuratively—Taking off on a Caribbean cruise next Saturday evening will be the members of the 100 Club who will board the SS Century at Hotel Cornhusker. The party is, as usual, a dinner dance, but this time it is to be a "Captain's Dinner", with the decor in keeping with a Caribbean cruise.

—But it's a very nice courtesy.

Planning the dinner dance is a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Cochran, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tallman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knudsen, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Tinsman and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Eaton.

Guest couples at the party will include Mr. and Mrs. Les Rau, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Atlee Stephan, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hopkins.

UNDERSTAND that—Mr. and Mrs. Warner B. Rhoads have travel plans for early February—but it isn't a cruise. Mr. and Mrs. Rhoads will pack their ski togs and their skis and be off and away to Aspen, Colo., the second week in February.

MAYBE you've already heard, but we didn't know until this morning that Mr. and Mrs. Fred Golan (Barbara Zemer) and their four children, Fredie, Stephanie, Leslie and Mary Sue, left Omaha a few days ago for their new home in Columbus, O., where Mr. Golan was transferred.

THERE'S news in the Talcum Powder set this ayem—Hear that Tommy Kimball arrived on Tuesday, Jan. 21, at Bryan Memorial Hospital. The young man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kimball, and his mother is the former Beverly Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Williams. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kimball, and added to the circle of Tommy's admirers are his brother, Billy—and his sister, Kathy.

THEN we were told that James Franklin Jenkins made his appearance at Bryan Memorial Hospital on Saturday, Jan. 18. Tommy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jenkins, and he already has a fan club—his sisters Susan and Mary, and his brother, Bobby. Mrs. Jenkins is the former Janet Hemphill of Omaha—Pi Beta Phi at Nebraska.

CHATTER In The CORRIDOR

By DIANE GEIER

Three American Field Service candidates from Lincoln High have been nominated to the New York office where a selection will be made. The three candidates are Chip Kulin, Jean Morrison and Judy Zadina. All three are juniors.

A parents' meeting was held in the L. H. S. Auditorium on Tuesday, Jan. 2. The program included entertainment from the orchestra, a business meeting, physics and chemistry demonstrations on the stage, open house in the newly remodeled chemistry and physics laboratories and refreshments in the cafeteria.

The vocational trades shops of Lincoln High were featured on KUONTV, on Jan. 15.

The 1958 SCRIBE board has been announced by SCRIBE advisors Miss Wanda Cramer and Miss Irene Martin. The staff includes: editor, Joe Couch; associate editor, Valerie Wheeler; managing editor, Charlotte Douglas; story editor, Sarge Dubinsky; essay editor, Sid Chesnin; poetry editor, Ann Muehlbauer; art editor, Gwen Garrett, and typists, Jean Cherry and Virginia Wadhams. Students were chosen on the basis of English aptitude and citizenship. The SCRIBE is a book which contains stories and poems written by students.

Willie Delehoy, senior, received the highest score in Lincoln High in the written examination for the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow scholarship taken Dec. 3. Her paper will be sent into the state competition and will also be considered as runner-up in the state.

"Why Take Foreign Language" was the topic discussed by Lincoln High School students on KFOR Radio Jan. 19. Ann Walker was the moderator of the group which consisted of Marty Stokke, John Winkelman and Judy Zadina. This program was being directed especially to ninth grade pupils to help them decide if they will continue the foreign language begun in Junior High. The benefits gained from the study of foreign language and recommendations relating to this field were debated.

Lincoln High and Lincoln Northeast basketball teams met for the second time in the Public Activities Building on Friday, Jan. 17. The Rockets won their second consecutive game against the Links. The Links only two losses have been these two Lincoln Northeast games. Next Friday Lincoln High travels to Boys Town and Saturday hosts Beatrice at the Public Schools Activities Building.

Before the Beatrice game Donita Reich will be the hostess for a dinner given by the Lincoln High cheerleaders for the Beatrice cheerleaders.

A Nebraska sports editor declared Lincoln High the Grand Champion of Athletics in Nebraska for the year 1957. It marked the seventh straight year the Links have won the title.

Roland Wallick has been selected as a candidate for a scholarship to the University of Nebraska to play football. This is certainly a wonderful tribute to one of Lincoln High's finest football players.

The first semester is nearly over and we'll soon be enjoying a well-deserved and much needed vacation to come back to a change of classes. I hope that everyone kept up their studies enough during the semester so that the finals weren't too difficult. If you did have trouble, make this resolution: Do your studying when it should be done. See how much easier the second-semester finals are!

Dear Abby . . . Can Keep Everyone Happy! Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have never asked for help on a family problem before, but I am up against a dandy. My wife is going to have our first baby and our problem is what to name it. I am from a large family and am the oldest. My parents think the first-born of the oldest should be named after one of them. I love my parents, don't get me wrong, Abby, but I don't care for either of their names. The wife says it's up to me. If we don't name the baby after my parents I am afraid my name will be mud. What would YOU do in my spot?

STUMPED
DEAR STUMPED: Give the baby a first and second name, using your parents' names in the combination . . . then call the baby whatever you like Everybody's doing it!

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman with nine kids and seven are still living home. I am 36 years old and my husband is 39. We had a misunderstanding and he broke my jaw. At the clinic where I went to get my jaw set I fell in love with a man who runs the elevator. He is married but is getting a divorce soon. He is 33 and more my type. My husband is begging me to take him back but I am already in love with this elevator man. Please help me to make my mind up.

BIRDIE
DEAR BIRDIE: Although this elevator man is having his ups and downs he is still married. I suggest that you stick with your own husband. Don't irritate him and learn to duck!

DEAR ABBY: My problem is this: I think when a person has a party or shower given for them, they should open up their gifts in front of everybody. Am I wrong or not?

ALICE
DEAR ALICE: I think you are right. Half the fun of giving a gift is witnessing the expression of appreciation on the face of the lucky receiver.

DEAR ABBY: I just started to work for an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist. He is not married. I am very much in love with this doctor and wish he would treat me like something other than an employee. How can I get him to notice me and take me out socially?

SECRETLY IN LOVE
DEAR SECRETLY: Don't give him the EYE or you'll be out on your EAR. He "nose" you are there, so don't cram it down his THROAT.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

ARKANSAS REFUSES TO EXTRADITE HENRY

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Tommy H. Russell, administrative assistant to Gov. Orval Faubus, Tuesday refused to order James Bradley Henry, 35, returned to Nebraska to face a charge of child stealing.

Russell deferred a decision in the case of Henry's mother, Mrs. Bertha Huddleston.

Henry and his mother, both residents of North Little Rock, are charged in Nebraska with taking

Nothing Can Be Done Here, Scheele Says

Lancaster County Attorney Elmer Scheele said Tuesday night that if the governor of Arkansas refuses to approve extradition of James Henry on a child-stealing charge filed here that there is nothing his office can do about it.

Scheele said the action of Arkansas officials puts an end to Nebraska attempts to have Henry returned where he allegedly took his daughter at gun-point from the Cedars Home for Children.

Scheele said a governor's extradition normally is only for the purpose of determining if the extradition papers from the state seeking an individual are in order, but apparently in this case Arkansas officials decided to go also into the merits of the charge against Henry as well.

Concerning the testimony by Arkansas residents at the hearing there that Henry was in Little Rock on the date he allegedly took his daughter from Lincoln, authorities here said that in addition to Cedars Home officials they also have an identification from the motel operator where Henry reportedly stayed that backs up the Cedars officials in identifying him as the man who took Marilyn Sue from the home.

YMCA Official Speaker Here At Annual Meeting

Joel E. Nystrom of New York City, executive secretary of the International Committee of YMCA's, will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Lincoln YMCA, 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 29.

Nystrom heads the North American YMCA's world service program which co-operates with Y movements in 36 countries.

New board members and officers will also be announced at the meeting.

Presiding the annual meeting a 1958 membership "round-up" will be launched. About 250 workers will take part in the campaign, which has a goal of 600 new members and $6,500 for the Lincoln YMCA.

1-DAY DRIVE SET FEB. 17 FOR BETHANY LIBRARY

A one-day campaign on Feb. 17 is planned by Bethany civic groups to canvass the area for $15,000 in donations for a proposed new Bethany library building.

Robert Staples, chairman of the Bethany Branch Building Fund Committee, presided at a Tuesday evening meeting of 20 representatives of Bethany civic, church and social organizations who will act as group captains during the one-day drive to raise needed funds for the new building.

Staples outlined the area to be canvassed as bounded on the south by O Street, on the east by 70th with the Eastborough and Meadow Lane additions included, on the north by Fremont, and on the west by 56th St. from Fremont to Holdrege, and 48th from Holdrege to O.

$7.50 Per Home

Volunteers were told that about 2,000 housing units exist in the area, making an average gift per unit of $7.50 to meet the needed $15,000 to be raised to match funds promised by the City Council toward the estimated $45,000 structure.

An average family of four should plan on donations of $2 per member, Staples explained, if the drive, planned for 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m., is to be successful.

He further explained that if

Henry's 4-year-old daughter Marilyn Sue from a children's home in Lincoln in a tangled case involving custody of the little girl.

Six Witnesses

Russell, an attorney who handles extradition matters for Faubus, said he ruled against granting the requisition of Nebraska authorities for custody of Henry because six witnesses testified at a hearing Monday that the man was in the North Little Rock area at the time Marilyn Sue was taken from the Lincoln home.

Russell said it was a "clear case of mistaken identity" in regard to Henry.

Russell said Mrs. Huddleston admitted she took the child from the Lincoln home, but denied it was at pistol point as charged in Nebraska.

'Not Henry'

He said Mrs. Huddleston refused to name the man who accompanied her, but said that it was not Henry.

Mrs. Herbert Martin and her husband (mother and stepfather of Marilyn Sue) want custody of the child in Nebraska. The couple faces charges here of removing the child from Arkansas without proper authority.

Dale Price, attorney for Henry and Mrs. Huddleston, filed a new court petition Tuesday asking that custody of Marilyn Sue again be awarded to Mrs. Huddleston. Similar orders have been made here previously. Price said a hearing would not be asked for about 60 days to give the Martins time to answer.

Debt Hike Okay Near

... In Lower House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House listened Tuesday to a series of criticisms of the proposed five-billion-dollar boost in the national debt limit.

However, even critics agreed that the boost—from the present 275 billion dollars to 280 billion—would be voted. One move aimed at holding the increase to three billion was shouted down.

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson has asked for the increase because, he said, cash balances had grown low and the Treasury needed "elbow room." He cited increased defense spending as a factor.

Also, Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House Republican leader, urged his fellow party members "not to put our own administration in a straitjacket" by refusing to approve the increase.

One critic was Rep. Mason (D-Ill.), who was on the losing end of a 20-3 vote by the House Ways and Means Committee in favor of the five-billion boost.

Mason said raising the debt limit is a foolish move; he blamed "both the New Deal spenders and the modern Republican spenders."

every Bethany library patron gave a $5 contribution, the $15,000 goal would be reached.

Pledges will also be accepted by canvassers during the drive Feb. 17, Staples said, and contributions may be sent in at any time to the committee secretary, Mrs. Boyce Wedgwood.

7 Sections

The area to be canvassed will be divided into seven sections with local civic organizations in charge of canvassers in each area, Staples explained.

He explained that the decision on the one-day drive and other organizational matters were decided by the representatives of the organizations which will do the actual canvassing. "This is a people's drive, not one planned by the building fund committee," Staples stressed.

At present the Bethany committee has received about $700 in advance gifts including a $500 donation from Mrs. Bennett S. Martin.

Borough Official Wins $2,200 Cut In Annual Wages

WAYNESBORO, Pa. (AP)—A. Stover Fitz, 81-year-old borough treasurer and assistant borough manager appeared before Borough Council to press his request for a salary cut of $2,200 annually.

"I feel you're paying me too much, it's not fair to me nor to the public," he told the council members.

With a $4,000 salary, Fitz said he felt obligated "to put in a full day's work."

"I want to feel free to work a half day when I feel like it, take time off for illness and to come in late when it's snowing."

"Make my salary $1,800 a year as treasurer and forget about the assistant borough manager title," Fitz asked council.

By vote, Fitz's proposal was accepted "with reluctance."

Auto Workers Invite Curtice

... To Address Them

DETROIT (AP)—The Executive Board of the United Auto Workers Tuesday invited General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice to address the union's special convention opening in Detroit Wednesday.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther, in a telegram to Curtice, offered him an opportunity to provide the delegates with whatever information you believe will be helpful to them in drafting a collective bargaining program that will be sound and realistic."

There was no immediate comment from Curtice.

The three-day special convention is expected to ratify Reuther's proposal to make profit sharing the union's main goal in 1958 bargaining.

The invitation to Curtice noted that the GM president had described the union's proposed bargaining program as being "wholly unrealistic." The union also noted that Curtice had expressed hope that "the delegates to the convention, which will consider the recommended 1958 collective bargaining program will recognize the economic realities and adopt a sound policy regarding collective bargaining objectives for 1958."

Actress Tierney In Mental Clinic

TOPEKA, Kans. (INS)—Movie actress Gene Tierney has been a patient at the Menninger Clinic in Topeka since before Jan. 1.

This was confirmed by an official at the hospital which specializes in psychiatric treatment, however, he referred reporters to the actress' mother, Mrs. Belle Tierney of Greens Farms, Conn., for details.

The Menninger spokesman said, "she is here. She was admitted shortly before the first of the year." He added that beyond that he could tell newsmen nothing.

Miss Tierney, who was nominated for an academy award in 1947, suffered a breakdown three years ago after Aly Khan canceled their plans for marriage.

Illinois Coaching Job Lures O'Connell Away From Browns

By JERRY LISKA
CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (P) — Quarterback Tommy O'Connell, the National Football League's top passer last season, Tuesday quit the Cleveland Browns for the modest post of backfield coach at the University of Illinois.

"And I'm not the biggest or fastest quarterback in the world," O'Connell helped steer the Browns to the NFL's Eastern Division championship last season.

O'Connell, whose 1957 Brown salary was about $15,000, conceded he will take "a definite financial setback" in accepting a position on the staff of his former college coach, Ray Eliot.

The 190-pound, 5 feet, 10 O'Connell reasoned, however, "Over a period of 7, 8 or 9 years everything will balance out."

"In the meanwhile," O'Connell said, "I'll be able to spend more time with my family. I have two boys, 4 and 2, and my wife is expecting another child."

O'Connell actually had his first good pro season last year after technically being in the play-for-pay ranks since 1953. Before a leg fracture suffered against the Chicago Cardinals Dec. 1, O'Connell completed 63 of 110 tosses for a league-topping average gain of 11.77 yards.

O'Connell got back in the Browns' lineup in the NFL title game against the Detroit Lions Dec. 29, but couldn't help save off a rout by the Lions.

O'Connell, who lives in Chicago Heights, Ill., Tuesday denied his injury was a factor in his decision to quit the Browns. "It had nothing to do with it," he said. "I'm 100 per cent sound now."

AKINS GAINS TKO OVER DeMARCO

Rematch Stopped In 12th Virgil Moves Up Welter List

BOSTON (P)—Virgil Akins knocked weary Tony DeMarco into virtual fistic obscurity with a 12th round technical knockout in a brutal rematch of welterweights at Boston Garden.

Both weighed 147. Akins, the church deacon from St. Louis who waited for the Boston battler to punch himself out, finished the bout with a jarring right uppercut and Referee Eddie Bradley stepped in to call a halt at 1:53.

DeMarco had been down once in the eighth round and twice in the 11th but didn't know how to quit until Bradley made the decision for him before an overflow crowd of some 15,000 screaming fans.

DeMarco, his right eye encircled with blood from a cut which was opened in the ninth round, spun helplessly into the ropes from the finishing Akins uppercut.

Virgil, 29-year-old master of the waiting game, had landed several damaging blows to the midsection prior to the last shot.

But it was an accumulation of Akins' punches and DeMarco's arm weariness as a result of his all-out effort which paved the way for the outcome.

Akins, who slipped to the canvas in the fourth when hurt by a left hook, sent Tony down with a right uppercut and two violent lefts in the eighth. DeMarco fell against the ropes and pitched forward on his stomach. He was up at the count of seven and gamely finished the round by holding his own in a slugfest.

In the ninth, Akins opened the cut over Tony's eye though DeMarco had the better of the punching.

Akins hurt DeMarco with an uppercut as the 10th round got underway and pounded the 26-year-old local boy unmercifully. However, the remarkable punishment a k e r from nearby Fleet Street landed seven straight shots to the head just before the bell.

Akins landed a left to the body and a followup left to the head which staggered DeMarco backward into a sitting position in the 11th. He got up at three.

Another left to the body by Akins buckled DeMarco forward to his knees and he was wobbling as the bell rang.

Akins came out in the 12th certain his opponent had punched himself helpless. Virgil threw a right to the head and 30 seconds into the round he cracked a right uppercut.

Tony got away but Akins came back with a right-left-right to the head following two stiff body blows and finished matters with the fatal uppercut.

Defeat Ends Dazed DeMarco's Career

By DAVE O'HARA
BOSTON (P) — Veteran Virgil Akins punched former welterweight champion Tony DeMarco into retirement in stopping the Boston slugger in a second edition of their vicious brawl last October.

"As far as I'm concerned, Tony is all through fighting," Manager Rip Valenti said, as his 26-year-old battler sat dazed long after being stopped in the 12th round by Akins.

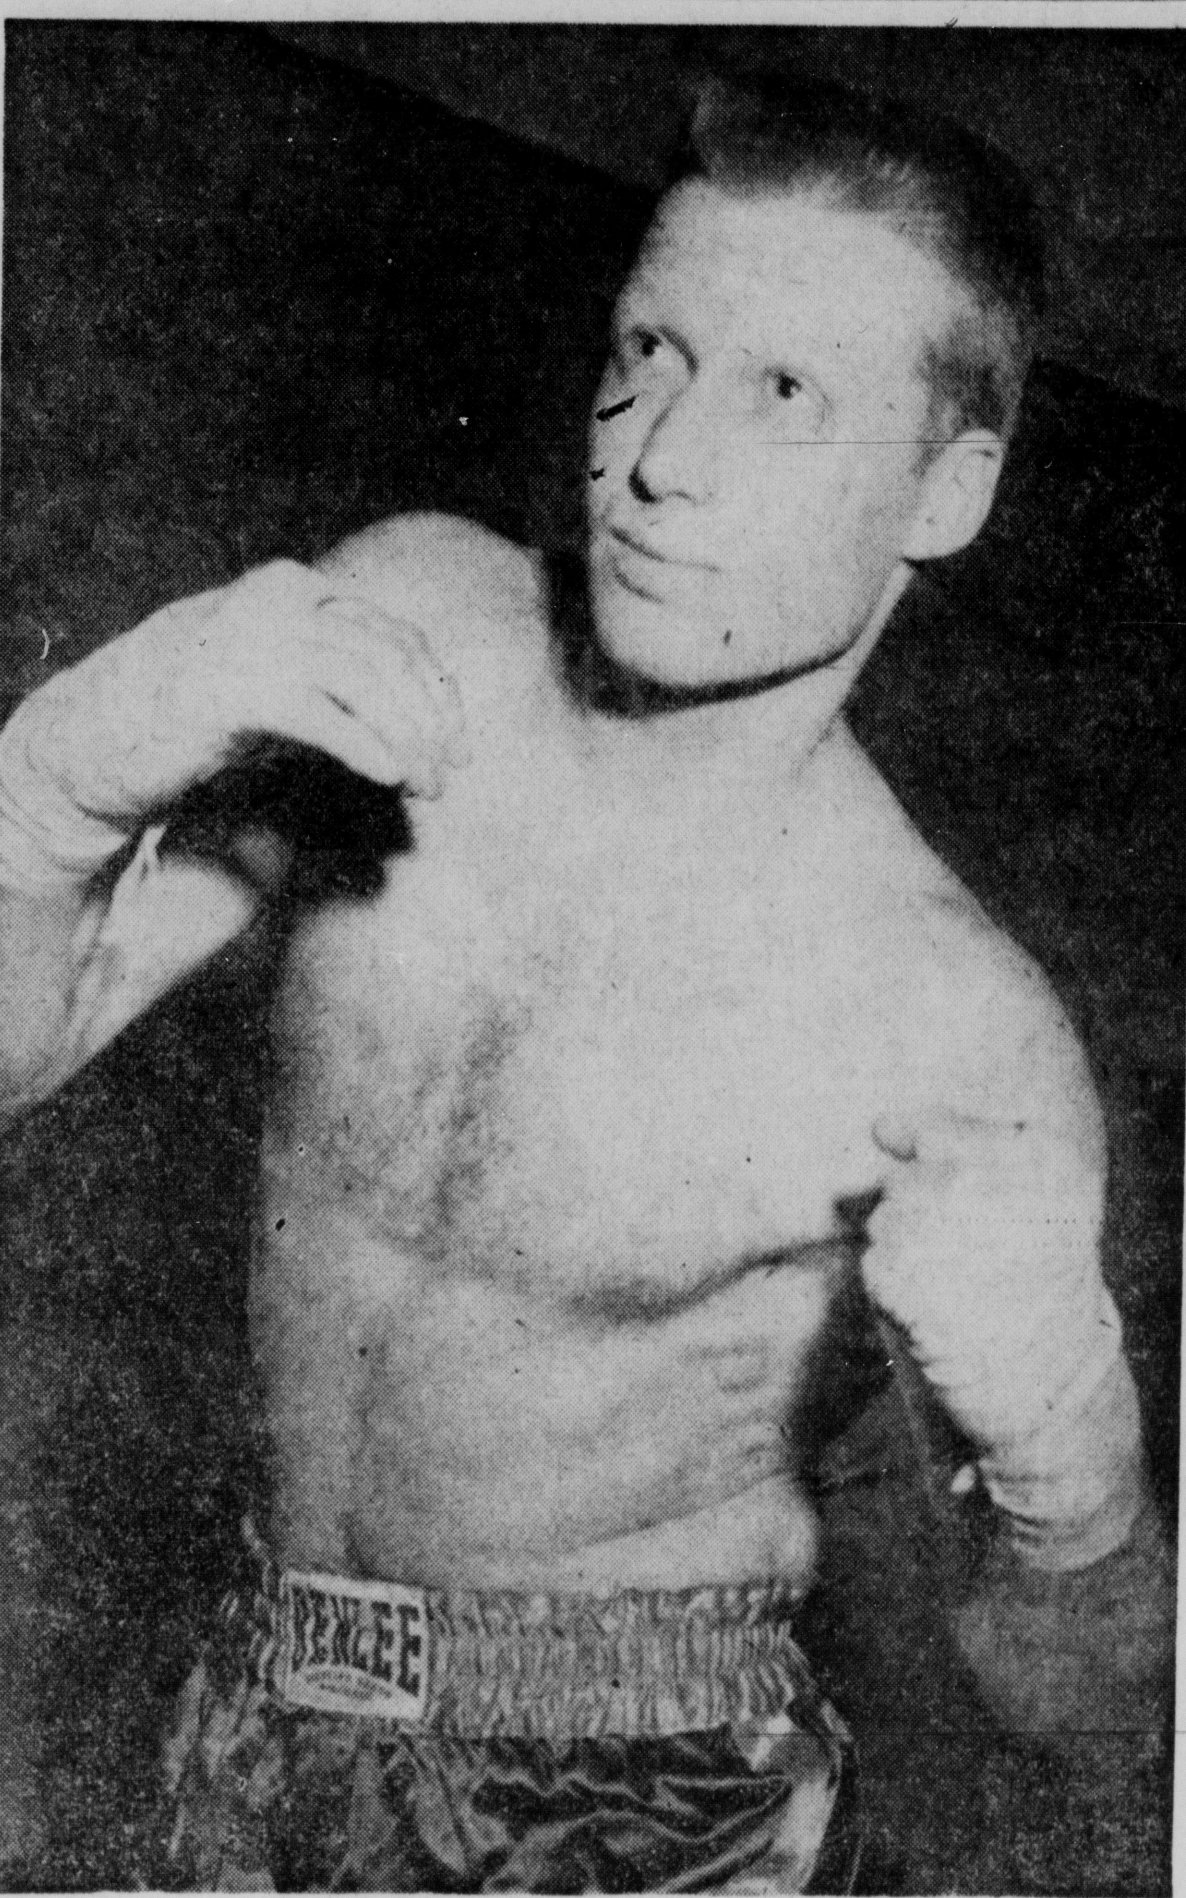

Dr. Samuel Sandler, Boxing Commission physician, said DeMarco was suffering from "cerebral unbalance" and did not have possession of his faculties.

Tony, who did not say a word long after the bout, pushed aside an oxygen mask and dressed while obviously in poor physical condition.

Sandler said that he and three other examining physicians recommended that De Marco be hospitalized for "at least a couple of days."

However, Sandler said, Tony refused and planned to spend the night at a hotel with his handlers.

DeMARCO . . . through?

De Marco's vaulted left hooks and overhand rights.

"I knew he could come back after being knocked down because he did it in our first fight," Akins said. "I just waited and called my shots."

"You have to have a fighter's heart to be a good fighter and Tony has a fighter's heart."

Akins said that he knew he had DeMarco in the seventh round.

"I hit him with a right uppercut as he came in swinging wild," Virgil said. "He blinked and backed up and I knew I had him. Those short right uppers and left hooks did the trick."

Bernie Glickman, Akin's co-manager, said "it took a lot of heart to overcome that heart" in praising both his own fighter and DeMarco.

Valenti said that he doesn't think he would allow DeMarco to fight again even if Tony does want to come back.

"I'm the guy who holds the contracts and I'm going to decide this time," the manager said.

Pettit's Great Play Fails To Stop Cousy-Sparked Eastern Cage Pros

ST. LOUIS (P) — Despite Bob Pettit's great double-record performance of 28 points and 26 rebounds, the East took a 130-113 victory in the NBA All-Star game, guided by the old pro of the Boston Celtics, Bob Cousy.

Playing with a cast on his injured left arm, Pettit did his best before a partisan crowd of 12,854 at the St. Louis Arena.

But Cousy, and his 6-foot-10 playmate, Bill Russell, came through down the stretch. The East pulled away after a close, bitterly-contested battle for three quarters.

Cousy, hawking the ball and passing brilliantly, put in 20 points, 16 of them in the last half. Russell had 10 of his 11 points in the last half.

The decisive point came with 7 minutes left and the East in front only one point, 107-106.

Cousy, driving for the goal, was fouled by Dick McGuire of Detroit as he attempted a twisting hook. He made both free throws, then popped in two more goals and a free throw for a 114-108 lead. The West was through.

Pettit's game—the best in NBA All-Star annals—earned him the Most Valuable Player award for the second time. He also was chosen in 1956 when he led the West to one of the two victories in has scored in this eight-game series.

Cousy's Boston teammate, Bill Sharman, and New York's Ken Sears gave the East a quick 6-point lead at the outset of the last quarter.

Bowling Leaders Hold On

The leaders remained the same in all divisions of the Men's City Bowling Tournament after Tuesday's action, but there was considerable shuffling in the doubles and singles top tens.

POINT BLANK

Sports Editor, The Star

Choice Is Still Secret

In doubles, Al Steyer and Gene Solberg remained on top with a 159-1109—1268 aggregate, but Roy Goodale and John Cahill moved into second by rolling a 1955 and adding a 171 handicap for a 1226 total for second.

Western League directors were not overjoyed at the prospects of a six-team league in 1958, but they charted that course because of several reasons.

First, of course, is the fact that it was the only logical choice if the league wanted to continue—which it did.

Secondly, the prospects were good for a solid six-team league. No mid-year foldups seem likely.

This replaced Rick Gardner and Bernie Kossek's 1223 by three pins. Other new duos included Charles Clapper and Herb Hedtke, fourth, 1206 total; Don Melichar and Mike Wiese, sixth, 1191 total; John Kissler and Paul Stein, eighth, 1169 total and Herb Willey and Glen Mills, ninth, 1164 total.

First, of course, is the fact that it was the only logical choice if the league wanted to continue—which it did.

Most important, however, is the belief held by the directors that a six-team league would be a stepping stone to much brighter days in the future.

They visualize the day—and it may not be far off—when there will be only two Class A leagues in the country, which would mean an attractive major league agreement for every club in each league.

Kossek maintained his singles lead with a 12-668—680 total, but Dean Shores jumped into second just eight pins away at 672, replacing Dale Arnst's 664 aggregate, which is now good for third.

New PAT Will Revive Drop Kick In College Football Says Crisler

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Fritz Crisler, outgoing chairman of the NCAA Football Rules Committee, predicted Tuesday the lost art of drop-kicking will be revived in the wake of the new conversion rule.

The veteran Michigan athletic director said "imaginative coaches who seek to take full advantage of the rule" will return to the almost abandoned drop kick.

Crisler was a leader in pushing through football's first change in scoring rules since 1912 recently at the Rules Committee meeting at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The new rule gives teams scoring a touchdown the option of kicking for one point or rushing or passing the ball across the goal line from the 3-yard line for two points.

"Return of the drop kick would add to the deception of the points after touchdown play," said Crisler, former coach at Michigan, Princeton and Minnesota. "While the place-kick is faster, the drop kick would free the ball-holder for blocking and running."

"I'm sure a study of the drop-kicking technique would perfect and speed it up to make it a dangerous play. From a short punt formation or the single wing, it would keep the defense guessing."

Crisler said the drop-kick also would add spice to a team's attack in scoring territory.

He said the current slenderized hape of the ball shouldn't prevent kickers from learning the outmoded technique. Old-time players such as Pat O'Day of Wisconsin Charley Brickley of Harvard and Jim Thorpe of Carlisle often drop-kicked field goals.

But the ball they used was much rounder than it is for today's pass-minded game.

The most recent of the great drop-kickers was the late Niles Kinnick of Iowa. He employed the drop-kick to upset Notre Dame, 7-6, in 1939.

Bavasi Defends Coliseum

Says Most Squawkers Are Poor Hurlers

BROOKLYN (AP) — Dodgers' Vice-President Buzzie Bavasi Tuesday came to the defense of the 250-foot left field fence in the Los Angeles Coliseum and, at the same time, took a verbal swing at the complaining National League pitchers.

"Look who's doing the squawking, Antonelli and Spahn," he said angrily. "Why Antonelli (San Francisco Giants) lost 18 games last year and he's making excuses should he lose another 18 this season. He's already negotiating for next year's contract."

"Spahn (Milwaukee Braves) is another one to talk, isn't he? There's a guy who's pitched only about three innings in two years against us. He wouldn't know Gil Hodges or Roy Campanella if he met them on the street."

Antonelli and Spahn were among the hurlers who Monday derided the proximity of the Coliseum's left field barrier. Bob Friend of Pittsburgh also joined in as did other stars, past and present, who said the game was turning into a "bitters' paradise and pitchers' nightmare."

Bavasi, here with club president, Walter O'Malley to attend Sunday's annual dinner of the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers' Assn., took an opposite view.

"It may just turn out to be a pitchers' paradise," he declared. "How can these guys complain when they haven't even seen the layout? Did we squawk when we had to play in Greenberg Gardens (Pittsburgh's left field of a few years back)?"

"If anyone should have anything to say it should be our pitchers. After all we will play 77 games in the Coliseum."

"I know there are no figures on it. But how many homers are hit right down the line? It's going to take a real good belt to get one out of the park in left center and right center field. Maybe the batters will have something to say about that."

Bavasi said he was satisfied with the overall setup in the Dodgers' new 101,000 seat stadium.

"There are about 45,000 good seats in the vicinity of home plate and first and third bases. I wouldn't want to predict just how high our attendance will go."

"But everytime you pick up the paper you see 100,000 attending a sports event in the Coliseum. That's a pretty good indication there are some sports-minded people in Los Angeles."

The announcer donated the sum to the March of Dimes.

Yardley Has Big NBA Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — With a 27.3 point a game average, a 100-point lead and 60 per cent of the schedule completed, George Yardley of the Detroit Pistons is having himself a whale of a good time in the National Basketball Assn.

The latest statistics put Yardley's point total at 1,201 with Dolph Schayes of Syracuse in the runnerup position at 1,101.

The Pistons' star scored 51 points, his all-time high, against the Boston Celtics last Wednesday. This matched the season's top figure turned in by Bob Pettit of St. Louis against Syracuse Dec. 21. Pettit, although hampered by a wrist injury, holds down the No. 3 spot with 1,049 points.

Big Clyde Lovellette of Cincinnati is fourth with 1,018 followed by Bill Sharman of Boston, 976 and Cliff Hagan, St. Louis, 854.

Jack Twyman of Cincinnati is the leader in field goal accuracy with a .459 percentage on 294 field goals in 641 tries. Bill Russell of Boston still leads in rebounds with a per game average of 23.4.

NEW YORK (AP) — With a 27.3 point a game average, a 100-point lead and 60 per cent of the schedule completed, George Yardley of the Detroit Pistons is having himself a whale of a good time in the National Basketball Assn.

Schedule Conflicts Plague Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Walter O'Malley obtained permission last week for his Dodgers to play in the 101,000-seat Memorial Coliseum he inherited a king sized headache.

The National League Schedule, as previously adopted, conflicted with several established attractions in the coliseum.

One is the American Legion's 4th of July fireworks display that draws a big crowd of children and their parents. The Dodgers were scheduled to play a doubleheader that day in the Coliseum with the St. Louis Cardinals. O'Malley had hoped he'd be able to hold onto that big crowd attraction, but it may be he'll have to swap it for something else.

The National League schedule as previously drawn has been declared "obsolete," which means that O'Malley has prevailed on President Warren Giles. He couldn't squeeze in his Aug. 24 game with the Cincinnati Reds because the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Rodeo, which attracts some 90,000 persons, was scheduled ahead of him and couldn't be changed.

The rodeo performers operate on a tight schedule.

O'Malley also had conflicts with the Los Angeles Rams, who with UCLA and Southern California, are joint football tenants

Legislative Council Executive Board To Meet Friday

The executive board of the Legislative Council will meet Friday in the Statehouse, Dr. Jack Rodgers, legislative council administrative assistant, reported.

State Sen. John Aufenkamp of Julian is executive board chairman. Board members include Sens. John Beaver of Beemer, Charles Tvrdik of Omaha, and Monroe Bixler of Harrison.

Bixler replaces the late Sen. William A. McHenry of Nelson on the executive board.

The Legislative Committee on Game and Fish also will meet Friday.

The highway user committee will convene Jan. 30.

Members of the special committee created by the last session of the legislature include Sens. Peter Clausen of Leigh, Harold Stryker of Rising City, LeRoy Bahensky of Palmer, John Donner of Elgin, Dwain Williams of Broken Bow, Sam Klaver of Omaha, and Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island.

Brief Appeals Cut Of Lincoln, Alliance Passenger Trains

The city of Alliance, village of Hyannis and Western Nebraska United Chambers of Commerce have filed an appeal brief with the State Supreme Court on the discontinuance of two Sunday trains between Lincoln and Alliance.

Being appealed is a State Railway Commission decision allowing the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad to discontinue the two passenger trains, numbered 41 and 44.

The brief contends the Commission ruled contrary to evidence presented during public hearings at Broken Bow last fall.

It maintains that the railroad never has encouraged use of the two trains and even discouraged patronage of Train 41 by adopting "unsatisfactory and indefensible schedules."

The Legislature also stipulated that the state committee be composed, aside from those already named, of the dean of the University of Nebraska's college of

Vic Denies Any Commitment On Kearney Building

Gov. Victor Anderson said Tuesday he never made any commitment to a Kearney delegation concerning construction at the state teachers college in that city.

Anderson said he was at a "loss to explain" where Bruce Hagemeyer, State Normal Board president from Hemingford, "got the idea" that he had ever made any commitments "to anybody" concerning proposed building at "any of the state teachers colleges."

Anderson made the comments in reference to a statement Hagemeyer recently made before Alliance Rotarians that a Peru-Kearney conflict over rival construction projects was "apparently precipitated by a commitment Gov. Anderson made to a Kearney delegation."

"I have a lot of respect for Hagemeyer," the governor said, "but it's simply beyond me where he ever picked up that idea."

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — An official of the National Science Foundation says he thinks Russia's satellites may kick back because they have roused the United States.

Dr. Bowen C. Dees, deputy assistant director for scientific personnel and education of the foundation in Washington, D. C., says because of that the launching of the first Sputnik may go down in history as Khrushchev's folly.

He made the statement at a meeting of educators and scientists gathered in this atomic energy laboratory to discuss whether high

In a talk at a dinner, Dees said: "If this notable technological
